Editor's Letter

ere we are at our third issue. With twenty-three models and fifteen photographers this is our biggest publication to date. As our distribution continues to grow our brand is beginning to attract international attention. In the coming months we will be releasing Special Editions in the Swimwear, Fitness and Topless genres. Look out for those. So, models and photographers start your engines and send in your submissions.

We have a change in The Back Room with Raya Tkachenko taking over the Graphic Design position. Raya has facilitated the redesign of the magazine and will be involved in the evolution of all our publications. I would like to thank her for taking over mid-stream and burning the midnight oil to get the issue out on time.

Our Chief Photographer, Anthony Randall, has outdone himself once again with beautiful shoots of three features, including the Cover Model and four teasers. Our Cover Model for October is the internationally published and all around super-girl, Shani Hollywood. To say it has been a pleasure working with her would be a grand understatement. Look out for more of Shani in upcoming issues.

Joining Anthony is an A-List of photographers that would be the envy of any magazine editor. Kudos to them, their models and the fantastic images they have produced.

Luke Krom is back with another spicy read and music review that, as usual, pushes the limits of anything resembling etiquette. A fan favorite and ours too.

I would like to thank the team behind the efforts to successfully get us on the Google Play platform. Download the Magzter Android app and look for us.

Once again, I would like thank our loyal customers and our fast growing social fan base.

Enjoy and remember to contact us with your ideas and submissions.

Armed with a Bachelor's Degree in Mass Communications she is in negotiations with major clothing designers to further her exploding career! What qualities drive you wild in a man?

Muscles, intelligence, humor, romantic, hard worker, tall

> What's one thing you think all men should know? How to be a gentleman

What do you feel most comfortable wearing? Nothing (I hate panties)

What's your favorite sport? NFL Football What team? New England Patriots. GO PATS! Who's your favorite actor? Tom Hanks What's your favorite song? Maybe Tomorrow – Stereophonics Who's your favorite artist? Lifehouse Do you have any piercings or tattoos? How many and where? 9 piercings: 1 helix, 6 earlobes, 1 nose, 1 monroe (lip) – 6 tattoos: all on right foot

What's your idea of the perfect date? Anything that's fun and not typical - sporting event, hanging out at the beach, and anything that involves dessert!

On an average Saturday night, what are you doing?

Cuddled up on the couch watching movies or having some casual drinks out

Which physical feature do you most often get complimented on? My eyes

How did you get started modeling?

I took professional boudoir photos for my now ex-boyfriend's Christmas present in 2012, got great feedback, and I enjoyed it so much that I pursued it

Who is your favorite model? think Aishwarya Rai is drop-dead gorgeous

How do we win your heart?

Doing sweet and spontaneous things for us without being asked!

Do you have a favorite behindthe-scenes story from a photo shoot?

I did an underwater photo shoot and the photos look so peaceful and calm, but it was the hardest shoot I've ever done. I had to keep my eyes open, hold my breath without holding my nose, blow bubbles out of my mouth, pose gracefully, and keep myself from floating to the surface all at the same time. I swallowed so much water!

> What would your fans be surprised to know about you? I lost 100 pounds to pursue my dream of modeling

Candice Elizabeth

Candice is an aspiring glamour, lingerie, bikini and swimwear model from Perth, Australia. "I love my job and only began to think about seriously pursuing modelling last year after my teaching career ended".

Hometown: Perth, Western Australia Height: 5' 4" Weight: 116lbs Measurements: 34-24-34 Profession: Administration worker and Skimpy Waitress Relationship Status: Single and loving it!

Pigstotos

What was your first job? I worked at a ribs and pizza store and ate way too much cheap pizza, ribs and pasta!! Pretty sure 80% of my wages went back into the store through me buying food haha

What's your favorite sport?

...Is shopping a sport? What team? The team that has the best sales!

What's your favorite movie? The Notebook – I'm such a girl!

Who's your favorite actor? Actor would be Ryan Gosling and Actress would be Emma Stone.

What's your favorite song? Hmm depends on my mood! I love anything Boyz II Men though!

Who's your favorite artist?

Music artist? Probably Boyz II Men. My musical taste is daggy as hell! On the flipside I love 36 Crazyfists – an amazing metal band.

Do you have any piercings or tattoos? How many and where?

I do! I have my ears pierced twice and my belly button. I've got three tatts – a dragon on my back, my star sign (Pisces) on my hip and a sparrow on my chest.

What's the most memorable pick up line you've ever heard?

I don't know if you could class it as a pick-up line but: "Can I touch your hair? Just one quick stroke?" Then the guy proceeded to follow me around the nightclub (I was doing Promo Work at the time) trying to touch (and sniff!) my hair. Yeah slightly creepy.

What's the most unusual place you've ever hooked up?

In a lake in the middle of the day with a tour group around us. Or 30 metres in the air on a rooftop walk in pitch black, hearing people walking around on the ground below!

What's one thing you think all men should know?

How to read a woman's thoughts! Honestly though, I think all men should know that women are just as interested in sex as they are – they just need to be aware that it takes more than a 'how bout it hunny?' to get us in the mood! Women want to be seduced so put in the effort and the reward will be worth it!

What qualities drive you wild in a man?

Confidence, intelligence, a wacky sense of humour, quick-witted, sexually adventurous, open-minded, tolerant and having that 'hot geek' look works for me too!

How do we win your heart?

Give me an all-over body massage, cook me a mean roast lamb dinner, watch The Notebook with me and shed a tear or two then "take me to bed or lose me forever!" (If you got that that was a Top Gun reference, then that will also help win me over!)

On an average Saturday night, what are you doing?

If I'm not working (I do bar work as a skimpy waitress, which means that I swan about in pubs in my underwear) then I might be hanging out the swinger's club (the crowd there is much more friendly and I don't have to worry about getting my boobs grabbed – or if they want to, then they'll ask nicely first haha) or going out dancing having a few drinks. On the flip side, I might also be curled up on the couch sipping on a hot chocolate with chocolate liquer in it (yum!) and watching movies or a TV show.

If you could go on a date with one person, dead or alive, who would it be?

Miranda Kerr. I'd pick her brain over modelling, and probably just sit there staring at her. Plus I remember an article coming out a while ago about her being bisexual (or bi-curious I can't remember which), so I'd also try and steal a kiss at the end of the night ;)

Which physical feature do you most often get complimented on?

Depending on whether it's a male or female it would be my boobs, hair or eyes. Women tend to compliment my boobs most and I've even had random women just motorboat me in clubs or ask if they can feel them in the bathroom haha. Men tend to compliment my eyes or hair first... When do you feel sexiest? When I have my hair and makeup done for photoshoots and get to wear sexy outfits and pose in front of the camera. Or when i go out after a shoot with my hair and makeup done and slip into a sexy dress and heels.

then when they're feeling more bold depending on how I receive that, they'll compliment my boobs!

What do you feel most comfortable wearing?

Comfortable? Track pants and a singlet top with Ugg boots! Comfortable as in what makes me feel sexy and confident when i'm out – a tight fitting dress that shows off my cleavage and clings to my curves.

How did you get started modeling?

I was a drama major at university so I got into acting and wanted to get some interesting character shots for my portfolio. I found out that I loved being in front of the camera! After I changed careers and was no longer working with children I decided to give it a proper shot – my older sister was always telling me that I should be in men's mags so she really encouraged me to start looking online and it just went on from there!

Who is your favorite model?

Candice Swanpoel or Miranda Kerr. Sexy Aussie women that are just dropdead gorgeous and really seem to embody the laidback friendly attitude that Australians (and models) should have.

Do you have a favorite behind-the-scenes story from a photo shoot?

I was doing a shoot on the beach and was totally starkers as we were doing implied nude (where you're naked but you strategically hide the fun bits!). We were behind this little rock wall, however I could see out to the water and it was early in the morning on a beautiful clear day so there was a lot of rowers on the water. Everytime I saw one coming I had to roll back towards the wall to hide, but a few went back and forth more than once, so i'm pretty sure they copped an eye full! Hahaha! I've also had people stop and stare on photoshoots. The makeup artist and photographer were calling me Emma Stone so i'm pretty sure they thought they were seeing someone famous!

Aside from modeling, what are you focusing on these days?

Modeling is easy my greatest focus right now, but I also have a full-time job and am writing a novel so when I have spare time, that's what I like to do. I'm also focusing on maintaining my fitness as it's cold and dreary here at the moment here in Australia so my motivation is at all all-time low! My hot chocolates on the couch don't help either haha

What would your fans be surprised to know about you?

I used to be a high-school teacher and as a part of my university degree I spent two years studying Spanish (although i'm very rusty now!). I'm also one of six children (a regular Brady Bunch with 3 boys and 3 girls – I'm Jan, the forgotten middle child haha). People also seem surprised (disbelieving more like it!) when they find out that my hair and boobs are both all natural!

What's your idea of the perfect date? Get all dressed up to head out for a delicious dinner so we have some energy food for when we head home to the bedroom! Being able to sleep in and snuggle the next day would be perfect too.

How did you get started modeling?

I got asked to be in someone's make up portfolio and from there my modeling just grew through Model Mayhem and networking

Who is your favorite model?

I don't really have a favorite – I have mad love for any woman who supports other models and isn't afraid to do so. Women like to tear each other down instead of supporting one another. I owe a lot to Nelette Kara who is Playboy Miss Social's Miss June 2014 she has shown me a lot of love and I can't thank her enough!

Do you have a favorite behindthe-scenes story from a photo shoot?

One of my last shoots with Davide Anderson back home I got super sick all of a sudden and everyone had to stop everything to make sure I was okay. It's not a favorite but it sticks out in my mind the most. I work with some great people!

Finishing school, being the best mom and wife I can be. I am always trying to better myself as a person.

A Gentleman For The New Millenium

PRETTY SURE THE RIGHT bastard would pay his fair share of taxes. Listen up, you holy-rolling prats, your free ride needs to come to an end...STAT! You're not just some impoverished charity doing good for the communities you set up shop in. You're a multi-billion dollar fucking industry, the pope shits in a gold toilet and you don't pay squat when it comes to taxes and to add insult to injury, you get government subsidies on top of the collection plate. You have your fat little rapacious god fingers in all kinds of corporate pies, you stick your sanctimonious phallus in all kinds of political arse and you even get away with kiddie diddling...which needs to cease immediately before anything else.

Look, just because I volunteer at a soup kitchen or food bank doesn't entitle me to not pay my fair share of income and real estate taxes and it should not allow religious organizations to skate on the cheque either. If a church is truly providng a valuable, charitable service to the community, then only the goods and services should be tax exempt, not the real estate and every other fucking thing. Many of these tax subsidies and exemptions are leftovers from the old world when the U.S. And Canada were first settled.

Well, we are all settled now and should have evolved past these silly superstitions, let alone, let them dictate what healthcare should and should not be provided by a private business in the states.

The tax subsidy fucks business for many. One small example, in downtown Victoria, the Baptists have a church that was built in 1998 that takes almost an entire city block. There is no way they could afford that shit if they had to pay the taxes. Sans the tax subsidy, they would have built outside the downtown core where rents are less expensive. By subsidising them to build downtown, it jacks up downtown rents in general, which has forced many businesses into bankruptcy. Cheers, Jesus humpers!

These religious institutions preach and teach things that are in direct opposition to both the Canadian and

United States constitutions. They teach the persecution of homosexuals, they teach the inferiority of women, to name a couple. I'm all for whatever makes someone a better, kinder, gentler, person but being a compassionate person and being religious have as much to do with one another as a hot dog and a warm puppy. So I sayeth this unto thee, time to payeth up or shuteth thou holy fucking piehole. Your faith should not buy you any special privileges anymore, in sugary sweet Jesus' name – Amen.

There's a story behind the "Leopard" that not many people would guess. Yes, I love leopard print, but is that the main reason why I named myself after and tattooed it on my body? No. When I was young, my mother always bought me things covered in Leopard print. I moved away from home at a young age due to family issues, but, no matter what, there was always one thing that made me happy and got me through the day. That, of course, was seeing leopard prints.

My career started in November of 2012, right after turning 18. This November will be my two year mark and I couldn't be happier to have gotten this far within two years. I have had the opportunity to work with some very talented photographers and models, and make many new friends in the business. I've been featured in an art gallery, music video's and have a photo/video set on the way for Playboy.com. As you could have guessed, I am an animal lover. Growing up, I always had pets. Hamster after hamster, fish of all kinds, and the sweetest guinea pig named Oreo. In 2009, I welcomed a new family member to the home, my first dog, Juno. A year later, we welcomed his sister, Audi, into the family. I don't know where I would be today without my little Shih-Tzu's. They have gotten me through the hardest of times, and they are always there to comfort me when I am upset. My pups are always keeping me eager to come home when I am away.

C Average

In 1996, guitarist Jon Merithew and drummer Brad Balsley joined forces and formed "C Average" and to this day continue to deliver their own unique brand of hard-driving fucking rock to the world. Their dirty mix of fuzz-laden heavy blues and math rock will let you know immediately this band is anything but average. The saturated guitar riffs of Mr. Merithew and Balsley's pounding drums reveal Sabbath and Rush influences, while reflecting the DIY ethos of their hometown, Olympia, Washington.

Then in 1998, they caught the caught the attention of Pearl Jam lead singer and guitarist, Eddie Vedder. Later that year, C Average played a series of shows with Vedder as their front man, including the Tibetan Freedom Concert and culminating in two-night stint opening for The Who at Chicago's world renowned House of Blues. After two albums and nearly two decades, C Average welcome bassist John Boyce into their sonic playground and are getting set to record their third full-length album. No official release date as of yet but keep your ears pricked and don't miss it.

C Average are:

Jon Merithew – Guitar, vocals Brad Balsley – Drums John Boyce – Bass, vocals

What made you go from a 2 piece to a 3 piece outfit?

JM: It's something we've wanted to do for a long time. We started out as a two-piece, but very quickly became a trio. Our first single was with Joe Preston on bass, but that line-up didn't last very long. When he left the band to focus more on his own project, Thrones, we were scheduled to record our first album. Rather than delay the recording by auditioning and getting a new bassist up to speed, we said, "fuck it. We're a twopiece." After a while, it just became our thing. It was challenging, creating more sound with fewer musicians and I think it made us better players. We had to be really adaptable, and that flexibility worked in our favor when we had the opportunity to play with Eddie (Vedder). Ironically, he was one of the first people to encourage us to bring in a bass player. Brad and I had seen John play in bands around town for years. I had a feeling that he could work really well, because he's such a monstrous bass player. We wanted somebody who could bring their own feel to the songs, not just mirror the lead lines. The first time the three of us practiced together, he came with complementary bass lines already written for four of our old songs and ideas for four or five new ones. We knew he was our guy.

I could probably glean this from the bio; but in your own words, what was the most memorable show and why?

JM: Everything we did with Eddie was amazing, especially opening for The Who. Meeting them was a dream come true for me, being a huge Who fan. But then again, as Eddie's band we weren't playing C Average songs. We did open two shows for Pearl Jam in 2000 as C Average. Both shows were fantastic. We had a standing ovation at the Mount Baker Theater. Really, our show last weekend might be the most memorable, because it was the most recent, and even the memory of that is starting to fade... JB: I don't normally remember the shows. They feed me a strange bubbling elixir that makes me feel like I'm floating on a cloud with a Unicorn and then suddenly people are clapping.

Do you think if you stayed off the pot and studied hard the band would be B – Average?

JM: Ha! If anything, we need to smoke more.

Your favourtie Canadian band/ artist?

JB: Rush forever!! We used to rock a talisman picture of each respective member in our areas of the practice spot! I also love Death From Above 1979. Man I would dig playing with them. I cant wait to hear their new record. Tell em C Average wants to rock!!

JM: You have to ask? Rush, of course! Pizza – great food or greatest food?

JM: Greatest. I worked at a pizzeria for years, ate pizza every day, and never got sick of it. It's still a staple. JB: Maybe the most versatile food ever! Ask 5he Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles. Michael Angelo was always ordering up a 'peanut butter, anchovy, pepperoni and jellybean with green olives or some shit. You can put anything on a pizza!

If you weren't doing music, what would you be doing?

JB: I'd be a groupie. Or maybe write about it. Being a groupie I mean;

JM: I always wanted to be involved in film-making.

Who/what was your biggest musical influence; now and coming up as youth?

My Dad. He is tone deaf and doesn't play at all. He was a steelworker, didn't hear too well so he always had the radio playing killer rock but so loud! ELEVEN!!

JM: When I was young, I listened to a ton of movie sound tracks, because they transported me to other worlds. I particularly enjoyed science fiction/ fantasy themes. At that time, the radio stations were playing a lot of oldies, which I liked, and soft rock, which I didn't. A grade-school friend introduced me to the sound of the British Invasion, courtesy of his older brothers' awesome record collection. I felt an immediate connection, especially to The Yardbirds, The Beatles, and The Kinks. I gravitated toward their big beat and wicked guitar work. Then I discovered the Who and I've been a life-long fan. Though the Yardbirds, I eventually stumbled upon Cream, Led Zeppelin, and The Jeff Beck Group. They led me to Hendrix, and I was hooked on the heavy blues sound.

As I got older, my musical tastes grew heavier and heavier. I was into Van Halen, The Scorpions, AC/DC, Maiden, Metallica. Rush was very inspiring, with their sci-fi/fantasy motif and unconventional time signatures. Oddly, I somehow skipped over Black Sabbath. I didn't discover them until right around the time Brad and I started jamming together. Sabbath was a revelation.

In the '90s, Olympia had a thriving music scene, but nothing really heavy until KARP came along. They had a huge influence on us.

Currently, Holst's The Planets and Electric Ladyland are on heavy rotation on my turntable.

What is the ultimate musical objective of C Average?

JB: My goal is for us to make a living at entertaining folks. I love playing with Jon and Brad. It is hard not to see our chemistry and I think this is what has people's attention right now. We are a rock band that is made of with old school beliefs in soul and substance, all about the quest for an answer. We are honest at worst and want to share as much of this energy we feel with as many people as we can. If we get to eat because of it, that'd be some whole nutha shit.

JM: C Average's ultimate musical objective is to provoke an emotional, visceral response in people and remind them that's what rock and roll is all about. Then we want to go to Europe.
