Jen hots up Dubai!

Miss Metcalfe seeks the sun!

be known for its impressive number of millionaires, spawning needy rock band Mansun and being quite near to Wales, but the home of Hollyoaks is severely lacking in white, sandy beaches and bikini-friendly weather conditions.

So the likes of lovely Jennifer Metcalfe have to seek sunnier climes to deliver our fix of girls off the telly in dangerously small clothes. Like Dubai, for instance, specifically Le Royal Meridien Beach Resort and Spa, which acted as host to Jennifer and her presumably teabag-sized luggage. Amazingly, rooms at that hotel start at a very reasonable £144 a night. And the views, as you can see, are terrific!

'Here, fishy!'

Woman fins a trip on a great white!

THIS IS the brilliantly-named conservationist

Ocean Ramsey, chalking up number 32 on her list of big species of shark she wants to swim with.

The 27-year-old wants to remove the "ferocious predator nutter" tag that great whites have.

"The connection felt as I hitched a ride reminded me of my experience with horses," she said. Yup, just like horses, that can detect blood from miles away and with rows of never-ending teeth.

"Regent Street? Sorry, love - I don't go north of the river"

A quick word with Gerard Butler!

Includes getting fired and knives to the brain!

Hi Gerard! Your new movie Olympus Has Fallen is number one at the US box office! That's nice, eh?

Yeah. It's better than being number two! You never know these days. You can make a great movie that no one goes to see, there are a million things that can go wrong. What's exciting about making a movie is the other actors who are cast. At the beginning it was just me. I was like, "What if no one wants to come? What if they're all like, 'I don't want to fking act with Gerry Butler!'?" Ha! But this movie is exciting, provocative, rousing and patriotic. It's a real crowd-pleaser.

You play a rogue secret service agent who saves the day when terrorists attack the White House. It all sounds a bit Die Hard!

The script did feel a bit like a Die Hard-in-the-White-House, with the President being held hostage. But it's grittier and more brutal than Die Hard. We wanted to make it less "Yippee ki-yay, motherfker" and more believable.

Did you have to be careful you didn't make it so believable you'd give actual terrorists ideas?

We spoke to the Secret Service guys about what facing an attack might feel like and said, "Could terrorists actually do this?" They had stuff up their sleeves that they couldn't tell us, and stuff they did tell us we couldn't use. But would you really be able to fly a plane into the White House? In the context of the movie it's believable. But then terrorists start fking us up with garbage trucks on the ground and from the inside the White House and... I've just given the whole movie away!

What if the actual President of the USA sees it? Aren't you going to worry him?

Well, we screened it to politicians and Secret Service agents and ambassadors in Washington and they got all the jokes. It's entertainment, it makes you think about the risks we face, but it's an exciting story.

Your signature move in the film is a knife to the brain. Are you a bit dagger-happy in real life?

I didn't realise how many knives to the brain there were before I watched the movie. Then I was like, "Holy fk! I don't seem to kill anyone in any other way!" But it's a pretty effective way to kill somebody!

Could there be a follow-up where you save the day somewhere else? Like Leeds?

There's been talk because the movie's done really well. But I don't know what he could save after the White House. That's the kind of ultimate prize, isn't it? What would terrorists want to attack even more than the White House?

Um, how about your house?

My house? Ha! Olympus Has Fallen 2: My House! Would anyone watch? Maybe Olympus Has Fallen 2: The White House Falls Again would be better.

Do your female fans get cross when you do action movies rather than all those soppy love stories they like?

More people tend to say, "Why the fk don't you stop doing love stories? If I see you in another love story I'm going to put a knife through your brain!" I have done a few romantic comedies... until they're coming out of my arse! But I really enjoy making them. I really enjoy making all types of movies.

What's Morgan Freeman like?

It's so exciting when he arrives on set. You turn into a little kid and go, "It's Morgan Freeman!" I'd met him at an Oscar party and he walked up and went, "Hi, I'm Morgan Freeman, international movie star." Only he could get away with that, he's so humble in real life. And he's so tall, like seven foot! He's incredibly charismatic but when he's acting, he's so soothing he's like honey.

Is there anyone else you'd really like to work with?

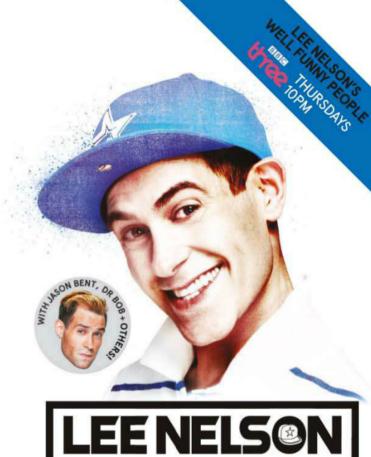

I'd love to work with Danny Boyle. He's such a diverse director because he takes such risks. I'd love to be involved in one of his risks.

He's making Trainspotting 2 next. You're Scottish. Surely you could wangle a part?

Can I tell you a crazy story? I was training as a lawyer in Edinburgh, but two weeks before I was going to qualify, 542bhp Jag supercar!

Jaguar celebrates 25 years of its hot R models with a coupé that'll kick some Astons!

- Jaguar's R cars are the Brit company's equivalent to BMW's M division and Merc's AMG arsenal. They nearly always come armed with supercharged V8s, extra asphalt-hugging suspension and a makeover by an aggressive tailor.
- Celebrating the 25th birthday of Jag Rs is this
- long, low, loud growler, the XKR-S GT. This is the most extreme version of the XK coupé – a car that shares its designer (and some of its looks) with some of the great Aston Martins of the past.
- The GT will go on sale for around £30k more than the current £97,000 XKR-S, which is a special edition in itself. And what does one get for their £125,000 slab of British-built coupé? A car that gets to 62mph in 3.9 seconds – almost a second faster than a 420bhp Aston Martin Vantage.

 This flagship aluminium-bodied XK has a faster steering rack, 52mm wider front track and is the first road-legal Jag to wear carbon ceramic brakes, so it'll lap the legendary Nürburgring in less than seven minutes 40 seconds – ten seconds quicker than its XKR-S cousin.

Like yours in white? Good job too, as it's the only colour you can buy it in. Additional features that distinguish this are the wheel arch extensions, carbon-fibre winglets and a carbon front splitter chin jutting 60mm from the front bumper.

 This chin and the giant bird table rear wing both combine to produce 145kg of downforce for the Jag's electronically limited 186mph max speed.
 Remove that limiter and this baby could well crack 200mph. Besides finding the money there's another challenge – despite being built in Britain, this model is limited to 30 cars and all have been earmarked for the USA and Canada. Although Jaguar say that if someone here in Blighty is mighty keen, they might be able to specially order a right-hand drive car.

Eager to avoid a costly catastrophe, the machine

"At first there was no pain," says Matt, "But then it hit me, closely followed by a jet of blood! I was immediately taken to hospital, where a specialist

Matt was off work for five months and was only able to return to his job with the help of a medical sleeve and some strong painkillers.

My missus is really reluctant to try anything new in bed. I've spoken to her about it, but when it comes to getting down to it, she won't try anything out of the ordinary. Is there anything I can do to get her to try new things? I'm so bored!

PATRICK Maidstone

You must seduce her. Begin by taking her on dates. Introduce public thigh-stroking. Suggest she wears a skirt for date two. Caress her in the cinema. These tricks will bring fun and thrills to the relationship.

Ex is still on my mind!

I'm still obsessed with my ex, even though we broke up two years ago and there's no chance of us getting back together. The problem is that it's affecting every new relationship I try to start up. How do I move on?

ANON via emai

Delete your friendship on Facebook, block her on WhatsApp, throw any evidence of her number away and take a holiday. That's what the rest of us do! Who wants someone who won't love them back? You need to break out of your normal routine. Travel's the best cure.

What's the first thing that jumps to mind? For me, doctors and nurses. I don't think it matters what you do. The importance lies in coming up with a mutually enjoyable scenario together. This way vou can both commit to it and there will be trust because you discussed and created the scene as a couple. Maybe buy a sex toy together for starters.

Should I come clean to her?

ONLY IN

A girl I've been getting intimate with keeps hinting that she wants to know how many girls I've been with. I don't know whether to be honest with her. I think I've slept with a lot, but does that make me look sleazy? Should I lie to her?

BEN Sheffield

She's not going to believe vou either way. Take control. Ask her what the benefit of knowing such a private detail would be. If she really wants to know, she'll have to make a decision from the quality of sex you deliver to her.

i girls! What have you both been up to recently?
Nicole: I've been spending time with my dog and my friends. I've been going to the cinema a lot too. The best film I've seen lately is Argo.
India: And I did the Nuts girl pizza challenge which has so far raised £2,000 for charity. I had 13 slices in 20 minutes!

Blimey! What's the best thing about being a Nuts model? India: I get to wear lovely underwear. I love to wear black numbers – not too sassy. I like wearing suspenders, hold-ups and a nice bra and heels.

Nicole: I just love the shoots. I'd love to get all the girls in the same place shooting together. Somewhere hot.

What's the key to a girl's heart? India: Through my stomach! With something from Nando's. Take me to Nando's. That'll do! Nicole: Chocolate. Any chocolate. I love those chocolate-covered honeycomb things you get at the cinema.

Do you ever get recognised? Nicole: Not really. But I was with Rosie Jones once and this guy came up and said, "Rosie! Are you alright?" We thought it was someone she knew, but a copy of Nuts with her on the cover was right behind us! India: I never get any attention. It only happens if I do a fun job or if I'm doing something wearing a Nuts T-shirt.

If you could do a raunchy movie scene with any famous bloke, who would it be?

Nicole: I really like Daniel Craig. I like his eyes. India: Will Smith. Or Jamie Foxx. I'd have him.

Who's the craziest Nuts girl?
Nicole: Kelly Hall is nuts – she's absolutely crazy.
India: Sometimes me and Holly have crazy nights together. We had a Page 3 night out – there were about 25 models all out on the town together!

If you weren't modelling, what would you be doing right now? Nicole: I'd be a teacher. I'd love to be a naughty teacher! India: I started to do a degree in sociology and criminology, so maybe that. Or, I'd have my own clothing range.

What do you both drive? India: I drive an Audi A3. It's brand new and I love it. It's red, so it's very sexy. Nicole: I drive a sexy Mini.

How could a guy make himself more attractive to you?

Nicole: Brush your teeth a lot, smell nice, have nice hair and be super-polite all the time. Oh, and carry my stuff! India: Just be charming and you can't go too far wrong.

When was the last time you accidentally flashed someone? Nicole: I think I might have done it to my sister yesterday. I went to show her my chest! India: I do it a lot when I go shopping, I think having my boobs out comes naturally.

Could you ever star in your own reality TV show?

India: No, that would be the worst thing. On a normal day, I don't look like this. I look pretty scruffy!

Nicole: Maybe you could film us on a shoot. They're normally a lot of fun.

OK, girls - posh hotel or camping in the wild?

India: I'd rather be in a hotel. Camping's a laugh for a couple of hours and then you're like, "I'm well uncomfortable, there are definitely animals outside my tent and it's scary." Ha-ha! Nicole: I actually really enjoy camping. I don't like moths, though. That's a bit of an issue.

What are your summer plans?
Nicole: I'd like to spend some time in Ibiza or something – maybe go somewhere else with the girlies. I like to travel.
India: Ibiza's ace! I love listening to R'n'B and house music. It reminds me of Ibiza in the summer!

Vs the Nuts Question Bucket!

The London rapper on teaching Lewis Hamilton to sing and sniffing Cheryl Cole!

are simple. We fill our bucket with ridiculous questions, then a famous type picks them out at random and has to answer them!

You've had a Top 10 single called Wonderful. What's the most wonderful thing you've seen?

Good question. The most wonderful thing is my mum and dad being together, and the fact that they're so happy. Eighty per cent of my friends didn't grow up around their mum and dad, so to see my mum and dad so happy together for all these years is wonderful.

How much money would you have taken to call your album Angel's Delight?

Ha-ha! It's a bit tacky! It's about the message I'm putting out. "My name's Angel and my album is called Angel's Delight" – sounds clever and smug. I need a theme and a message that's going to carry me through.

You supported Cheryl Cole.
What does she smell like?
I didn't meet ber! I

I didn't meet her! I supported her and I did a cover of Call My Name. She said she liked the song I did with Wretch 32 – Go In, Go Hard. But we were always in different places, I'm afraid.

As someone who's performed with One Direction, would you ever get a Harry Styles barnet?

Nah. Harry's haircut suits him. Not everyone can have a Harry haircut. Them lot are cool. They're vibrant and energetic. They remind me of myself. They're hungry for the music, man!

Are you really recording an album with Lewis Hamilton?

He wanted to start doing some music and he needed someone to help on the vocal side.

Someone thought we might click and we did – I went out to Colorado.

He's really humble and he's a good listener – he takes things in fast. Can he rap? Well, he sings more. Did he take me for a spin in his F1 Mercedes? Nah. It was more work. But we definitely had fun.

Who's more controlled – a rapper or a racing driver?

The only way rapping is like Formula One is that it's got the same adrenaline. The feeling they get on the track – that's the same adrenaline I get when I go on stage.

You have lots of tattoos.

Do you have any on or near your privates?

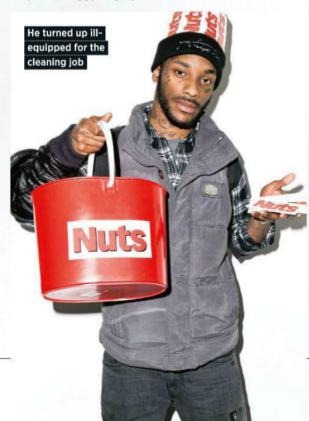

I haven't got one in a private place! None on my bottom. Ha! Every one on me means something personal to me. You know what? I still haven't counted them all as far as I can remember – I reckon there's over 20 at least, though.

You like your hats. How many do you own?
Easily over 100 hats.

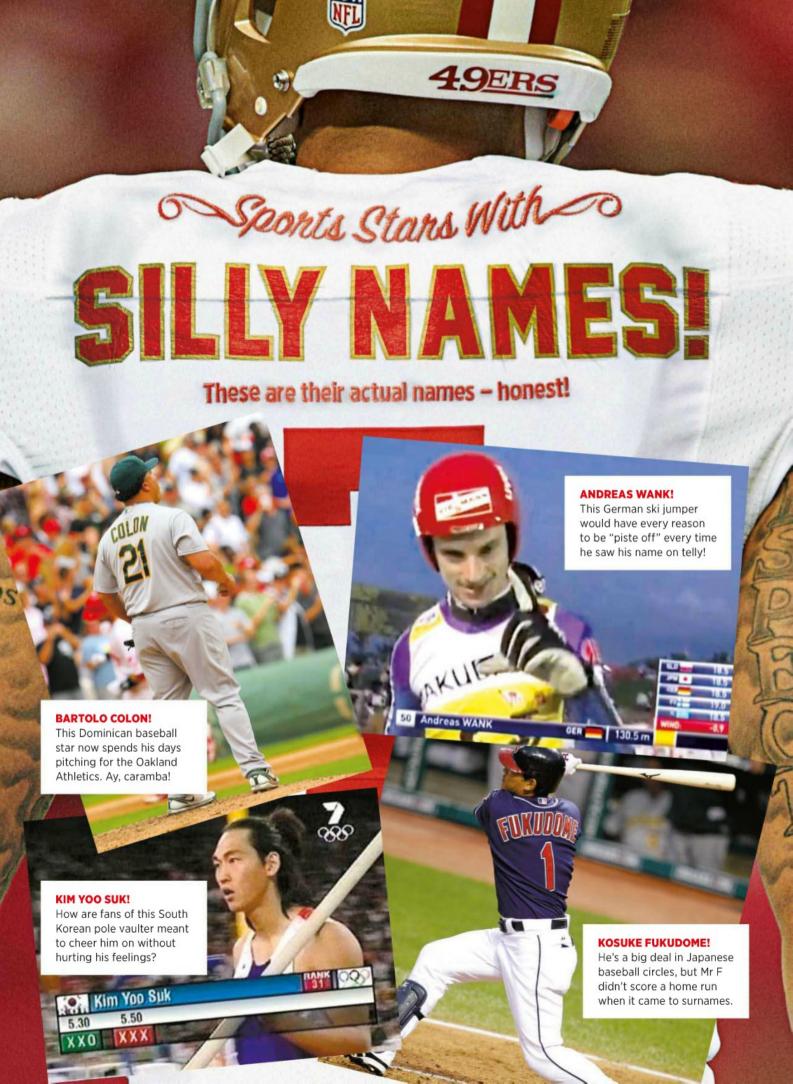

Who is the most famous person you've stood next to in the gents' toilets?

[Thinks for ages | That's

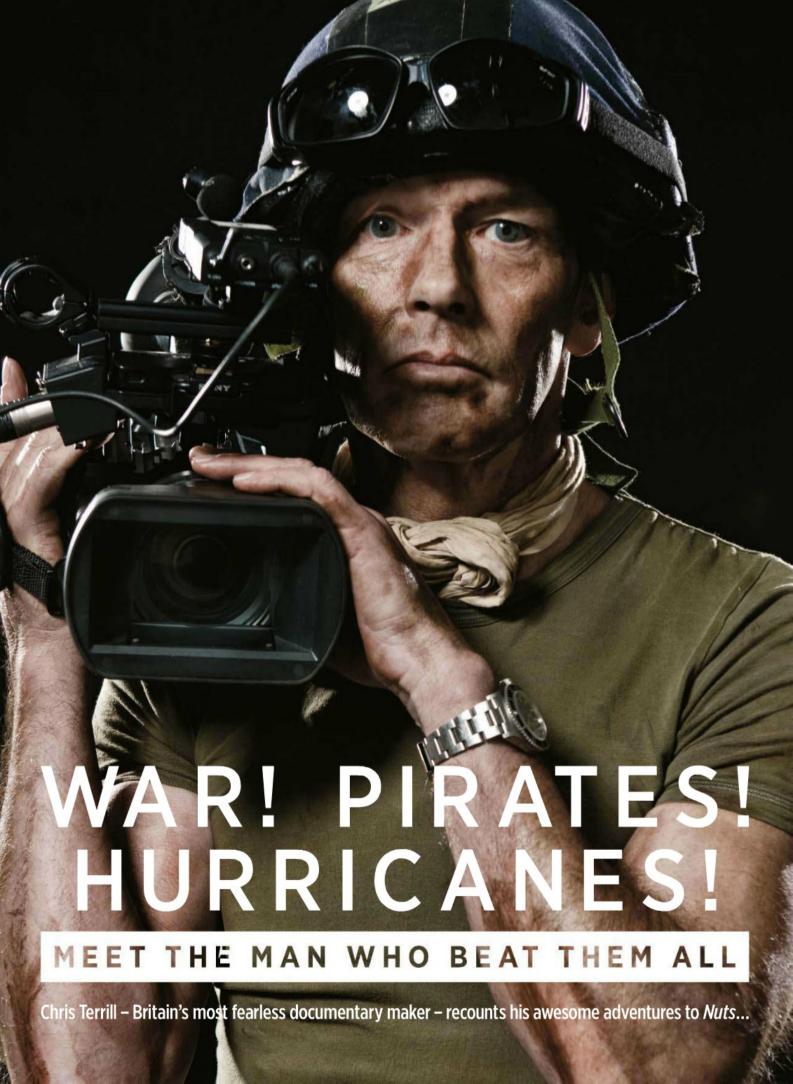

[Thinks for ages...] That's a crazy question! Kevin Spacey. Or Jamiroquai. It was at Elton John's Winter Ball – we were all in there!

ello Chris. First off, tell us a bit about your background?
I've always

travelling and adventure – mountaineering, diving and so on. I got a taste for anthropology [the study of humans] when I was at uni, and from there I went to Africa where I lived with a tribe to people-watch, basically. By chance, I ended up in broadcasting and I'm lucky to have a job that doesn't feel like a job. I have adventures in order to shed light on the human condition.

One of your earlier documentaries involved you posing as an orangutan smuggler. How did that one come about?

One of my great concerns is the plight of endangered species, and I knew that orangutans were being smuggled from places like Borneo to be used in circus acts and so on. Gangsters were paying poachers a couple of dollars to kill the mothers, take the babies away and fly them out of the country. They'd be worth around £30,000 by this stage. To highlight this, I had to get inside the gangs.

Were these gangs dangerous?

They're ruthless people with illicit businesses to protect. In those days, we didn't have microtechnology and I had a bag strapped across my body with a bulky camera inside. They would strip off your shirt to see if you were wired – God knows what would have happened if I'd been found out.

What's the closest you've come to being busted while undercover?

I was undercover in a sex club in Rotterdam posing as a punter. One night, my microphone wire shorted and my shirt was literally going to burst into flames, so I went to the loo to sort myself out. The number one guy's main henchman came in and caught me, and he knocked me around a bit. Thankfully, he didn't find my camera and I managed to talk my way out of it, but it got quite dangerous.

Tell us a bit about the time you spent with the Royal Navy. What sort of missions were you involved with?

I've spent time on a destroyer called HMS Manchester, chasing drug smugglers in the Caribbean > for six months. I was embedded with the crew and joined them on operations, which was exciting. Among all the massive coke hauls and highspeed chases, we supplied life-saving support to Saint Lucia. We literally rode in on the wake of a hurricane that had battered the island and were the first humanitarian aid to arrive.

Recently, you've spent time in Afghanistan. What were your experiences out there? Life changing. I feel very privileged. This was for a series where I followed a group of Royal Marine Commando recruits from their training to the front line. I was very close to them, literally under fire, and I learned that if I was going to be on the front line with anybody, I wanted it to be with them.

So, you basically trained to be a Commando?

Yes. It was 32 weeks of very intense mental and physical training. It was a constant challenge and they trained me to a level of fitness I've never known. At the end of the 32 weeks, you have to run four brutal Commando tests that culminate in a 30-mile hike across Dartmoor with a pack. It takes you to places in your mind where you don't want to go. But at the end of it is the famous Green Beret, and I'm very proud to say it's something I achieved.

Did you dodge any bullets in Afghanistan?

All the time. On my last trip, I was wearing the blue journalist's helmet that marks you out as supposedly off limits for the enemy. We had an interpreter listening in to the Taliban chatter on the radios in the area, and he distinctly heard, "Kill the cameraman, go for the guy in the blue helmet." After that, I wore a camo helmet.

You've made shows about storms and natural disasters. What's the worst one you've been caught up in?

Hurricane Ike, which struck the southern US in 2008. I was chasing its path and got ahead of it in Texas. If you're ever caught in a hurricane, a trick is to let it blow right over you in a multi-storey car park – it passes through the open sides without ripping up the building.

Tell us a bit about your new project, Battle Scarred?

This four-part series takes the story from the front line and the battle zone forward. These guys have to return to civilian life, and it can be very hard for them, with physical or mental issues. In this series we've faced issues of homelessness, dependency and crime. It's not like that for all former soldiers, but I explored how they cope with the transition.

 Battle Scarred is on Mondays, Ch5/HD, 10pm.

- If you're physically fit, you're mentally fit."

i Chanelle! How are you?
Hello! I'm hobbling around because of some mischievous antics on a night out. Apart from that, I feel fantastic!

What happened?

Well, I went to the cinema with my friend, got drunk, fell down some stairs and chipped a bone in my foot. I also strained all the ligaments in my leg, so I was on crutches for two weeks!

Oh dear! Are you feeling all fit and feisty again now?

Ha-ha! Yes. I've ditched the crutches. I don't think anyone's ever done a sexy shoot with crutches before.

So what else have you done since you were last in Nuts?

I've just been working away in my cake shop and trying DIY around the house. Stripping your clothes off is much easier than stripping wallpaper off walls, and more fun, too!

Your shoots are getting ruder...

I know! The last shoot was very uncensored. This shoot's all about lingerie, suspenders and sexy underwear. It's going to be one to remember!

When was the last time you seduced someone?

I went to the cinema recently – not when I almost broke my leg – and I was like a horny teenager. It ended at home in the bedroom, of course!

How would you subtly let a bloke know you fancied him?

I'm rubbish at things like that. Maybe I'd try to make eye contact or flick my hair back like they do in films, but I'd probably just send my friend to tell him I thought he was fit.

Do you have any odd turn-ons?

I have a real thing for people's arms. I'm obsessed with arms, but I hate my own. I think they look like legs coming from my shoulders. But I bloody love nice arms!

Does it ever feel weird when you see a chap reading a mag with you on the cover?

Yes, but usually it's me reading the magazine with me in it – ha-ha! I always go into newsagents, push all the other magazines to the back and put all the copies of Nuts on top!

Where's the strangest place you've been recognised?

It was in hospital. The woman who was examining me asked what I did. I told her I was a model and she was like, "Oh, I know you!" Embarrassing.

Have any paparazzi blokes ever hounded you?

Not recently. I don't mind, unless they start going through my bins. That happened once when I was at home.

When you see a fellow pretty girl, what are you most impressed by, bum or boobs? Bum, definitely. If I was a guy I'd be a bum and legs man.

Which Nuts babe do you have a girl crush on?

I don't like feet, though.

Lucy Pinder, although Lacey Banghard is a close second. Nuts has all the fittest girls.

What about from the TV world? I think Helen Flanagan's gorgeous. I love her lips. Her lips shout, "Kiss me!"

How's the cake-making business doing?

Fantastic. It helps that I've made Thursdays naked baking day. Ha-ha! I still do all my own baking. You should totally come in on a Thursday.

Sold! If Greggs offered you a million quid to take over the shop, what would you say? I'd say, "Yes, of course!" I quite fancy having a million quid in my pocket.

Which is better, cake or crisps? I actually prefer crisps. Maybe I should open a shop that only sells crisps. "Chanelle's Crisps" doesn't quite have the same ring to it though, does it?

Which item of clothing makes you feel sexy?

I love wearing a man's shirt after we've just finished in the bedroom. I like showing a bit of side boob and a cheeky bit of bum. That's such a sexy look.

How can a fella make himself more attractive to you?

By helping me do up my house. I want him to do the decorating, the painting, the gardening, everything. A man at work is a sexy man.

Should he wear a hi-vis vest?No, he should be topless! And maybe even bottomless as well.

What's your ultimate fantasy? It starts with a hot guy in tight shorts mowing my lawn!

What's the way to your heart? Through my tummy. I love treats. My favourite chocolate bar's a Kit Kat Chunky.

What would be your ideal romantic break.

I'd love to go to a log cabin with a wood-burning fire and a bottle of wine. Then we could get frisky under the blankets!

If you were Prime Minister, what policies would you introduce?

I'd give everyone free shoes. That would make everyone a lot happier, I think. Especially the girls. And if the girls are happy, the boys will be happy!

What's on your iPod?

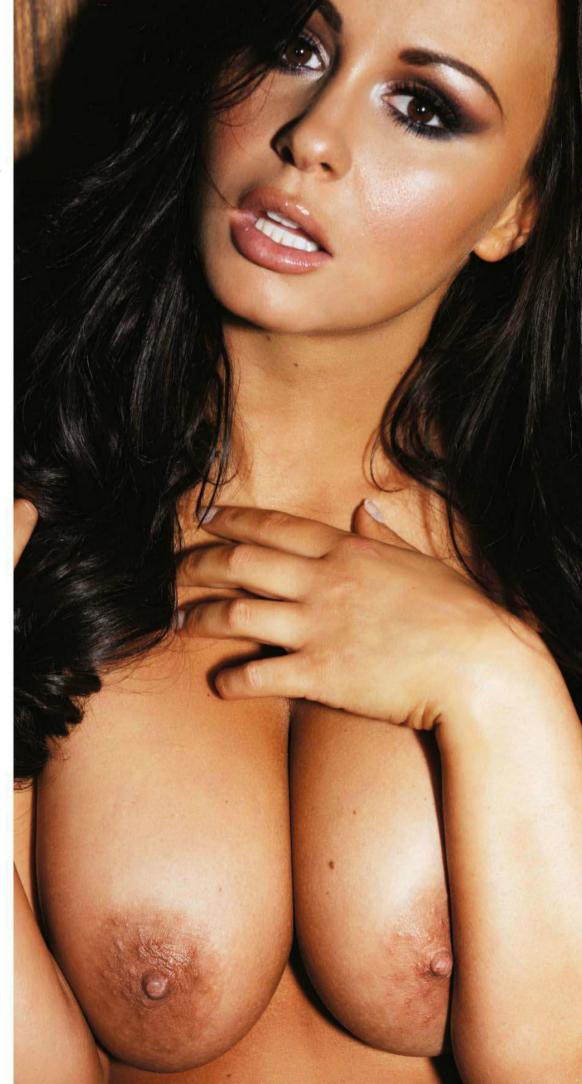

I don't know – it got stolen the other week! I've been listening to the radio a lot. I can't seem to get away from One Direction at the moment.

If you could do a sexy sex scene with anyone, who would it be?

There's a girl in the Kevin James film Here Comes The Boom called Charice. I think she's a singer. She's fking gorgeous! I totally would.

Thanks, Chanelle. Finally, if you were invisible for a day, what would you do?

I'd probably sneak onto a flight to the Caribbean!

'Horny in the hot tub'

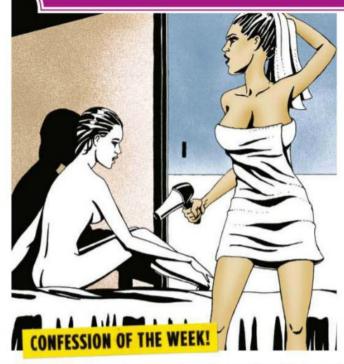

MY PARENTS went away for the weekend so my fella and I decided to take advantage of the empty house. He started kissing my neck and sliding his hands up my inner thigh. I started getting very wet and excited so I suggested that we get into the hot tub. When I appeared in the hallway in a skimpy bikini that barely covered my erect nipples, I could see his hard-on protruding through his jeans. We quickly jumped into the hot water and couldn't keep our hands off each other. I pulled him close and I couldn't wait to feel him inside me. As he entered me I knew I was going to come right away. To make things better, I heard the house phone ring and a message from my parents saying that they'd be home in five minutes! Em Hertfordshire

Racy revelations from our female readers!

We experimented on holiday'

I'VE JUST come back from a crazy weekend in Marbella. A friend and I shared a room and one night, as we were moisturising our bodies, I couldn't help but notice how gorgeous she looked with nothing on. I was staring at her and smiling when she stepped towards me, leaned forward and kissed me. Her hands grabbed my giant breasts and I was so horny I couldn't wait to explore further. I pushed my fingers between her legs and instantly knew she was turned on, too. We continued "experimenting" over the next few days.

I'D RECENTLY been out to visit my parents at their holiday home in Turkey cuddling each other in the back of the car. I was feeling naughty so I grabbed his hand and placed it on the top of my exposed thigh. He began to rub my clit as he chatted to his mate who was driving. His fingers expertly moved my thong to one side and I saw him grin as he felt how wet I was. He started to move his hand backwards and forwards really slowly as I tried to answer questions about my vacation. I'm sure his mate knew what was happening but he never looked once. We raced indoors as the car reached home. almost forgetting my case! Tash Cleveland

'I tried out my new toys'

AFTER A saucy break with my fella in Amsterdam, I was itching to try out our new goodies, which included vibrators and a bum toy. I was supposed to wait until we were together to try anything, but one evening I couldn't contain myself. I picked up a vibrator, turned it on and held it against my jeans. It felt amazing and I suddenly needed to come. I unzipped my jeans and finished off with my fingers. I still had two days to go until I met up with my man and I knew I'd have tried them all by then! Zoe South London

Where's the strangest place you've had sex?

"The strangest place I've had sex was on the beach during the day. One guy saw what we were up to, but it didn't stop me!"

What's your trademark move in the bedroom?

"I like to be dominant. I like to blindfold my men and tie them to my bed frame. I always have sexy handcuffs to hand. You never know when they might be needed!"

What really turns you on?

"I like to be kissed and licked all over. I love being teased until I can't take any more. I like my men to hold off going straight to the vital areas. It makes me want it even more."

What's your favourite position?

"Although I like classic doggy, I prefer crazy positions you shouldn't be able to physically do."

5 Is it better to give or receive?

"There's nothing better than a good 69. Everyone gets what they want. It's a perfect meal for two."

6 What one thing would you really like to try but haven't yet?

"I'd love to have a massive gangbang with lots of hot, beautiful people. I want legs and arms, boobs and willies everywhere!"

7 Ever got it on with another girl?

"There's nothing quite like a bit of lady love. I fancy the pants off tall brunettes with massive boobs!"

8 What's your sexy outfit of choice?

"I love dressing up as a sexy secretary. Most men love it, too! Sexy ruffled hair, glasses, bum-hugging skirt and cleavage heaving out of a tight-fitting top. Yummy!"

Have you ever made a sex tape?

"I absolutely love having sex on camera. I turn into a completely different person. Let's just say I'm quite the performer!"

10 What's the rudest thing you've done?

"When I was 18 or 19 I used to have my girlfriends stay over for girlie nights in. One evening, we all had a bit too much wine and it ended up being a very saucy night!"

with it though.

They have a great history of winning things, while we've seen our biggest time of growth in only five years. We lack experience of winning every season, but this will come. It's up to the players here, and the new ones who'll come in, to live up to those expectations.

So do you think City will strengthen in the summer?

Why not? Every year since I joined in 2008 we've done this. It's a very different club to the one I joined, and most importantly, the ambition is

I wasn't sure how it would work out. Five years later I'm still here, playing games and winning trophies.

Your style of play seems particularly suited to the Premier League.

However much you watch English football on TV, you can't understand the physical demands on the players until you come here. I personally love it though, I like the challenge. The big games are great but even the matches against the smaller teams are wars. No club accepts defeat easily!

Luiz: 'I love this game!'

The Brazilian on jokes and handling pressure!

Hi David! Do you think Chelsea still have a lot to fight for this season?

Of course. We can win the Europa League and the FA Cup so there are many positives. And we must finish as high up the table as we can, too. We've plenty of work to do!

It's been a dramatic season for the club, both on and off the pitch. How do the players feel it's gone?

We've not played to the level we expected. To go out of the Champions League in the group stages was tough to accept and our league form has been inconsistent. But if we finish with two trophies and a good league position, people's attitude to the season may change.

Would you say Chelsea are a club in transition?

We have new young players who aren't used to the Premier League. But there's the experience in the dressing room to help the likes of Hazard and Oscar.

Your Chelsea career has had a few ups and downs so far. How do you react to criticism that comes your way?

I take it and move on. Yes, you get frustrated when you feel the talk is unfair or untrue. Or that people seem to be ignoring the fact you're working fantastically hard and put the team first, always. The trick is to shake these emotions away. I'm lucky because I'm generally a positive and fun person.

We've heard you're the main prankster in the dressing room...

I like to laugh a lot with my team-mates! I play a lot of jokes which keeps everyone happy. It's good to have this approach because while there are pressures at a big club, this is a game to be loved and enjoyed.

Because you're a ballplaying centre-half, is it inevitable you'll make occasional mistakes?

Every move or error is analysed 1,000 times. But my role is to be a defender, make tackles and stop the opposition scoring. If I can bring the ball out or make a good pass, I will. It's all about the right balance.

What do you think is your best position - centre-half or holding midfield?

I'm a defender but enjoy the challenge wherever I play. I can do both and will perform whatever role the team needs. This is honestly my attitude. I don't think about myself.

You always seem very happy and up for a laugh!

I work as hard as anyone else, if not harder. I know what it's taken me to play for a big club like Chelsea and also for Brazil – it's not been easy! But at the same time, I know I'm a fortunate guy. I enjoy my life, so why shouldn't I be happy?

 The FA Cup semi-final between Man City and Chelsea is on ITV/HD at 4pm on Sunday 14 April.

Di Canio's fine, but he must drop politics!

If you want controversy, the Stadium Of Light's the place to be!

THERE'S A lot of fuss about Paolo Di Canio's appointment at Sunderland, and it's understandable – I've seen the salutes he made while he was at Lazio. But you have to treat people as you find them – I've met him and he's a normal bloke who treated me in the same way all my mates treat me.

But I wonder how this has got out of control. Let's not forget Di Canio's been a manager and a player in this country for a while. He becomes a Premier League manager and suddenly it all comes out – it's not as if he became a fascist between leaving Swindon and going to Sunderland, is it?

Football and politics don't mix. Di Canio's beliefs probably come from his family and where he grew up, but from now on you can guarantee he'll wash his hands of it all.

As to how he'll do at Sunderland, if they go down, no one will blame him. Nobody knew how he'd get on when at Swindon but he got them promoted. It's a big leap from managing in League One to the Premier League, but it can be done.

One thing's for sure – in the media we all think his appointment's good for us!

Mourinho will go back to Chelsea!

JOSE MOURINHO is a nomad. He comes in to do a job, sets out to achieve something and does it. If he wins the Champions League with Real Madrid this year, he'll go down as one of the best managers of all time.

He didn't make the decision to leave Chelsea – at every other club he's managed, he decided when he was going to go, so I think he has unfinished business there. Roman Abramovich must regret sacking the Portuguese, because Jose loved the job, loved living in London and improved the team every year he was there.

All the signs are Jose will go back to west London. The fans would love it – and not just those of Chelsea!

Beckham's still got it!

I WAS impressed with David Beckham's performance in the Champions League for PSG against Barcelona last week. To play like that at the age of 37 is incredible.

the sacking of Michael Appleton, it really is a case of how to ruin a football club in five easy steps.

Many people thought he was someone who could have held the ball for England at the last Euros and he's proved in terms of keeping possession he's still capable of doing it. To play at that level, especially as he's had the cigars out in America for the last five years, shows what a fantastic professional he's been over the years.

People get carried away with David Beckham the brand. They forget what a great player he was at Man United alongside Roy Keane, Ryan Giggs and Paul Scholes.

David's a great bloke. He's so down to earth it's frightening – he really is one of us.

Newcastle vs Sunderland

14 APRIL, MIDDAY • Sky Sp1

Paolo Di Canio's appointment makes this game even more massive. I don't know what response he's expecting but he might get a spark out of the players. And Alan Pardew will make sure Newcastle are equal to the task. A draw wouldn't be bad for either.

PREDICTION: 2-2

Key man

THE BIG MATCH!

> Simon Mignolet is one of the best goalies in the league at the moment. In the last few games, he's been brilliant.

Yaya's wages!

THERE'S NO doubt that Yaya Touré is a good player, which is why Manchester City fans will be pleased that he's put pen to paper on a new four-year contract. He's been brilliant since Roberto Mancini put him in that advanced midfield role, but his wages match the likes of Lionel Messi and Cristiano Ronaldo.

You'd go to great lengths to see those two, but I'm not so sure about Touré – he's good, but he's not exceptional.

John Cassidy is a real lip-reading expert. And a fully paid-up FA coach to boot!

When he watches a match, he sees every word!

Frank Lampard: "Hey, let's push up!"

SOUTHAMPTON VS CHELSEA St Mary's, 30 March, 3.33pm Lamps urges his team-mates to press the opposition.

SWANSEA VS SPURS Liberty Stadium, 30 March, 3.16pm The Spanish striker isn't happy when he's grabbed.
