HOMEGROWN HITS

---

AS YOUR MOST TRUSTED
WINGMAN, FHM TAKES PLEASURE IN INTRODUCING
YOU TO A FEW GIRLS WHO COULD VERY WELL PASS FOR YOUR NEXT-DOOR NEIGHBORS.
THANKFULLY, THEY COULD PASS FOR MAGAZINE
COVERGIRLS, TOO

LINDA PERSSON

What do we really know about Swede Linda Persson? Yes, she's 2011's Premiere Ultimate Vixen, she speaks little Filipino, and took up fashion design back in Sweden. If you like body ink, then you'll love her kick-ass, tribal-inspired tat that traces her upper back and segues down to her torso—it'll make you focus on the beautiful outline that is her smoking-hot bod. By virtue of the culture she was raised in, it's safe to say she is liberal when it comes to her sexuality. So, back to the question—what do we really know about Linda? Answer: Not enough to satisfy us, just that she's a perfect mix of interesting and inviting.

AINA GONZALES

It might be clichéd, but good things do come to those who wait. Take Aina Gonzales for example. Since being crowned FHM Girl Next Door of 2006, quite a bit of time has passed before her much deserved cover appearance in 2007. Actually, the wait goes back a lot longer than that—as a young, impressionable high school student, she says FHM's cover girls were already an inspiration for her, and to be one of them was a fantasy she wanted to fulfill. We hope that more girls are like Aina.

KRISTINE SANTAMENA

It's difficult to decide where to let your gaze linger the longest—on Kristine's slender, lean torso, with her trademark tiny waist? Her oh-so-sexy beauty mark so close to her always-smiling lips? Her playful eyes that smolder successfully at every click of the camera? Not long after we found this tall lass did she start becoming a mainstay on our pages—all because we can't decide where we want to look longest, and we thought it best to always have her around, so we didn't have to worry about missing a single, sexy nuance.

ARRA CASTRO

During an interview, this Girl Next Door winner admitted that while she might not have the largest rack in the business, she is very happy and content with them. This attitude is the reason we love girls like Arra Castro: They are real. Beyond not having any silicone parts, Arra is also that sexy girl you feel, or like to delude yourself into believing, that you personally know—and this intimacy transforms her from an impersonal object of lust to your object of desire. But we're not saying Arra doesn't get our animal instincts kicking—it's hard to resist a real woman after all.

JAHZIEL MANABAT

Jahziel Manabat is in your face. It's not just because of her ample gifts. It's not because she's one of the original Premiere Vixens either. It's because she is one crazy outspoken girl—and we at FHM can't resist a woman who knows how to speak her delightfully dirty mind. Ask and she answers, from Sapphic fantasies to indecent proposals, Jahziel is always ready to play along. A body to die for and the attitude to go with it, what more do you need?

JINRI PARK

Jinri Park is everywhere—from taking control over your radio airwaves, to starring her very own photo-book, to dishing love advice as our columnist, to hosting gigs left and right. Yes, her omnipresence is one you wouldn't mind at all. For what you'll have in mind is her curves and how they fill a set of lingerie in all the right places. What would fill your dreams are her smooth, ivory skin and her smoldering, suggestive gaze—the kind you normally get before doing the deed. She's everywhere all right—especially in your imagination's idea of a personal heaven.

PAULENE SO

Paulene grew up in Dubai, and it would be natural to assume that she had a strict, regimented upbringing full of headscarves and subservience to men. It turned out to be quite the opposite, though, and we have to thank our liberated friends in the Middle East for letting her live the life that eventually led to her Girl Next Door appearance and—most unforgettably—becoming the first-ever Premiere Ultimate Vixen. We'd like to think she is still serving mankind in a way—but only on her own dead-sexy terms.

JHANE SANTIAGUEL AND MAE DELA CERNA

Full of killer dance moves punctuated by jumping leg splits and a whirlwind of sexily messy hair—we'd love nothing more than a private show from Jhane and Mae. Having just the combo of these two though is already more than enough for us to handle. We wish all former EB Babes would follow Mae's example and ditch the cutesy image. If not, well, the quieter life of Jhane, who has sadly hung up her boots in Palawan, sounds like a good plan too. If only she would take us with her.

MAUI TAYLOR

Guilt itself tugged at our hearts every time we took our sweet time gawking at this former Viva Hot Babe. She is supposed to be a woman, isn't she? An eye-catching one at that, and a perennial star on our annual Sexiest list. So as men, to gawk is only natural. Yet there is a sense that we shouldn't. Because short of putting her pinky fingers cheekily on her lips, Maui never outgrew that cotton candy charm that made it seem like she was never fully aware of the effect she had on our pants. Once, she even tried smearing herself with various, luscious tropical fruits, yet we still looked at her with our hands covering our eyes, peeking only through the fingers. Good times.

JACQ YU

One long-running remark we have about Jacq Yu is that the sexy comedienne has proved to be the consummate FHM darling through the years. Jacq was quite a revelation when we first got a hold of her in our January 2008 issue. The woman scored a thousand more ganda points by championing our 100th anniversary cover later that year. And then she captivated us all in our Ladies' Confessions celebrity catalogue in 2010. No, we don't like her at all.

A black and white photograph of Gwen Garci. She has long, wavy hair and is looking directly at the camera with a serious expression. She is wearing a dark, ruffled, corset-style top with multiple straps and buckles. Her arms are adorned with several black leather straps and a large, ornate metal cuff on her right wrist. She is holding a thick, braided rope that runs diagonally across the frame. The background is a dimly lit room with shelves containing various items, possibly a workshop or a storage room.

GWEN GARCI

Sometimes it's hard to keep track of all the things Gwen has done. What is easy to remember, though, are the many very, very, sexual roles she has played on the big screen. After the thrill of First Time and the blinding lust it induced in men everywhere, Gwen went from strength to strength. The Baguio-born chinita beauty likes to travel, though, and that is one reason she had been out of our sight for a while—but not out of mind. It doesn't matter: judging by her recent return to FHM, she's only getting better with time.

ASIA AGCAOILI

To be named after a continent, one must have an astounding sense of character. And Asia Agcaoili, former FHM sex guru and all around bombastic babe, has never fallen short in achieving a strong persona. The FHM cover girl and go-to-girl for advice on all things bedroom-related was never shy, doling out pleasure techniques when need be—and it didn't hurt that her sex-pertise was backed up by a banging body and a mischievous face. Though her time as FHM's infamous columnist is in the past, most still sing her praises as the vixen that taught them a thing or two about all the right moves.

KRISTINE JACA

Once upon a time, the imaginary harem of everyone and your uncle, the Viva Hot Babes, lorded over countless lonely nights. One of them was a certain Kristine Jaca, who—according to the dusty tomes we had uncovered—once starred in a for-adults-only-coming-of-age film called First Time, and a videoke collection contained within what they called a “VCD.” In this group marked by bountiful proportions, and of varied mythical origins, Kristine had been the one descended from Maganda, who’s also another woman of legend who had to be cracked open from a bamboo. “Pictures or it didn’t happen,” we now commonly say. Fortunately for Kristine, when her tales came about, cameras already existed, and this right here proves that this temptress wasn’t just an urban legend.

SAICY AGUILA

Well-versed with calisthenics and cadence, dancers calculatedly move with grace and command your undivided attention without even uttering a word. Saicy Aguila is too familiar with this sense of power. Her long legs and her willingness to bust out booty shakes whenever, wherever can capture any and every man's fancy. Now, it's popular belief that good dancers make splendid lovers—Saicy's natural gifts just made it easier for all of us to connect the dots why this is perceived as such.

JENNY MILLER

There's something about actress Jenny Miller that's seductively intriguing. She's the kind of woman that exudes mystery at the simple bat of an eyelash. Maybe it's those big mesmerizing eyes that make you get lost in her stare; or her caramel skin that teases at the slightest touch of light. Or maybe it's that heavenly body that smolders under scintillating lingerie. We're not sure what it is either. But when it comes to Jenny Miller, we're damn sure of one thing: we'll never get sick of trying to find out why.

JEN ROSENDAHL

Another one from the original batch of Viva Hot Babes, Jen Rosendahl set the bar high, literally due to her statuesque form, for those who followed. It's not often that you come across German beauties like her, much less ones that bared it like she did and left a generation of men wringing their sweaty palms in desire. Jen's moved on to different things in showbiz since then but all it takes is one look from those piercing eyes and we're falling in love all over again.

RACHEL MARCIAL- DONAIRE

Rachel Marcial-Donaire puts a new spin on being a champion fighter's wife. She's a Taekwondo black belt and has a feisty personality no ordinary man can handle. Opinionated and fearless, she packs power that proves to be stronger than any flurry of haymakers can deliver. Now, having a woman like that by your corner would only push you to be the best in the world. We wouldn't be surprised then if Nonito Donaire Jr. bags titles in eight weight divisions or more before he hangs his gloves.

Photography: Nonito Donaire Jr.

VICTORIA LONDON

Vicky, a dreamer by nature, and a dream of a woman, last teased us with her voluptuous presence in a 2008 shoot on the FHM website. There she revealed not only that she had maintained the smolder in her eyes that made her a bonafide fantasy during the magazine's salad days, and a mainstay on Taiwan TV for six years, but that she also aspired to be a lawyer—a dream she's now translating into reality in the U.S. But if she, by chance, decides to reopen the case of her being a fine, fine evidence that God is a man, rest assured, we won't be ones to object.

A full-page photograph featuring three poses of Daiana Menezes. She is wearing a black lace-trimmed bikini and black high-heeled sandals with multiple straps. Her long, wavy hair is styled with a reddish-brown tint. The background is a plain, light-colored wall, and the lighting creates strong shadows on the floor and wall. The text is overlaid on the left side of the image.

DAIANA MENEZES

Once dubbed the "Brazilian Singing Sensation," Daiana Menezes quickly endeared herself into our hearts, not through her fine vocals but via her enthusiastic attempts at self-deprecation. She showed a goofy side uncharacteristic of Brazilian imports who came before her during her daily stint in Eat! Bulaga, no less. Given her already undeniable assets in the looks department, you can't help but be smitten when a stunner like her shows such skills in unintentional comedy.

MISA CAMPO

You may have a thousand and one reasons to be grateful for the Internet, but one of your top 10 would certainly include the generous online photographs of cyberspace sexy superstar Misa Campo. This California-based hottie was an up-and-coming car show model in Canada when Filipino photographer Steve Bitanga discovered her at one of her gigs and brought her to Los Angeles. Since then, she has been all over the place, even posing for the FHM cover twice. We can only hope that Misa once again finds our shores and does an encore.

ARIANNY CELESTE

Whether a UFC fight card lived up to the hype or became another snoozefest, you can never say you didn't enjoy watching it. Not when you have at least four Arianny Celeste sightings in every UFC pay-per-view event, as she winks, waves, or blows a kiss at you in all her bikini-clad glory. And that's why the shoot crew present for her May 2012 cover that day will always be envied upon, for experiencing that disarming and enchanting effect up close and raised to the highest power as she did more than winking and waving. Lucky bastards.

Photography: Xander Angeles of Edge of Light

MERCEDES CABRAL

Some days we just can't help but appreciate, feel grateful to have found a babe like Mercedes Cabral in our radars. Feel awestruck by her innate acting prowess; go ballistic over her super fine everywoman persona. Mercedes's cult potential is yet to be realized by the mainstream audience, and if they only see what we see—intense chocolate eyes, creamy tan complexion, and a high-five worthy tushy—the world will be just as appreciative.

KATYA SANTOS

Our readers are always enthusiastic about child stars growing up. We know them that well. So Katya Santos's return as a Viva Hot Babe was a cause for celebration for FHM/Ang TV fans everywhere. We just can't say no to the serious curves found on this woman, or even look away for that matter. She fully embraces her body, even playfully referring to herself as malaman, and we can only appreciate her more for that.

MYLES HERNANDEZ

Myles Hernandez refers to herself as the simple girl from the province—but trust us, there's nothing simple about the fantasies this Caviteña conjures in our heads. Aside from being a member of the Viva Hot Babes, Myles is also certified A-grade girlfriend material. How do we know this? Not only was she FHM's first Girlfriend of the Month, she was also crowned as the first Girlfriend of the Year. Definitely put a ring on this one.

IWA MOTO

Half Japanese firecracker Iwa Moto has been through a lot in her life. And by a lot, we mean problems of the heart and other equally painful things we'd never wanted her to deal with ever again. But despite of it all, she soldiered on and stayed true to what she's known for: a woman who has got a bodacious body to drool over, a face to leave you in awe, and courage and feisty-ness that would make you only like her more.

MAGGIE WILSON

Because of Maggie Wilson's pre-nup video with husband Victor Consunji, the song "Glory Box" by Portishead will never be the same. Yes, the trip-hop ballad was always a sensual tune, but pair that with Maggie and her beau in the heat of the moment, simulating some steamy action, and it's a recipe for raciness that only she is capable of. As if to say "we're hot and we want the rest of the world to know it" they were able to produce an original and stimulating audiovisual experience never before seen in the local world of "I dos." Now we understand why he put a ring on it. You don't just let a girl like Maggie go.

WENDY VALDEZ

Despite all the cameras, one can't help but wonder what goes on unseen inside the Big Brother house—especially if you've got a housemate as easy on the eyes as Wendy Valdez. Luckily, she sated our imaginations by showing off her toned, taut, six-pack toting figure in our magazine. Being the resident "bad girl" gained her a lot of haters, but look at her again and one might want to reconsider that.

JEF GAITAN

Stop checking your ears because you aren't hearing it wrong. Jeffrey Gaitan, better known as Jef, does carry a boy's name. But does it really matter? Not for this Survivor. She overcame her girl-next-door image as well to finish in a very respectable third place in the popular reality show. Jef also said that maybe girls like her who carry male names make up for it by being hotter. We'd have to agree with her on that.

BUBBLES PARAISO

Bubbles Paraiso needs a breakthrough role in her acting career. You see, if she gets the opportunity, we firmly believe she'll make the most out of it. Yes, she settles for supporting or even bit roles now, and we're even seeing less of her on TV already. But really, she needs a challenge she can step up to. So we can see more of Bubbles heating up your TV viewing or your magazine reading time. So we can have more photos of her doing this on FHM. Selfish reasons, we know, but this is one time when being selfish feels right.

SWEETHEARTS

---

NICE AND STEADY, THESE GALS
ARE. THEY'RE THE TYPE YOU
WOULDN'T MIND ADMIRING FROM A DISTANCE. THE KIND WHOSE INNOCENT FACES YOU COULD
STARE AT FOR ALL OF ETERNITY.
AND WHEN THEY SMILE BACK AT
YOU, YOU JUST . . . MELT

NINA JOSE

Nina Jose will always have FHM Nation eating out the palm of her hand. She's the type of lass all the boys go wide-eyed over and men wish they could woo. Credit this across-the-board appeal to a unique dichotomy only she can so effortlessly pull off: She undeniably radiates with a sultry allure that sends your hormones into a frenzy, yet what really draws you in is her sweet innocence and bubbly charm. And what good is it to resist? As if you had a choice not to be enthralled by her.

PHOEMELA BARANDA

We don't know anything about models or the unwritten rules among them. But if it's true that mid-20s are old for their kind, then you should start asking Phoemela Baranda questions on where she found the fountain of youth. Because she has barely aged a day ever since we started seeing her in magazine covers or on TV. Check this photo here, when she was just 26 in this FHM cover shoot. If you compare how she looks now, we dare say she's even hotter than ever.

MARIEL RODRIGUEZ

Everyone knows what Mariel Rodriguez's strongest suit is: Her head-over-heels response to everything nice and excellent. And then there's the elephant in the room that everyone can't help but acknowledge: Mariel has the most marvelous bosom. She is a pixie-cute personality with the proper curves to balance the package. Imagine her wearing this very lingerie, looking super fine and being playful before getting down to business. Oh, mother.

PAW DIAZ

Paw Diaz has always been appealing because of her inherent humility. When a woman isn't aware of the unsolicited power she has over men, it just adds to her overall attractiveness. Though Paw always looks flawless rolling around in bed, in revealing underwear, her sexy hair framing her gorgeous face, she never looks intimidating and unapproachable. Though there's an adage that says that nice guys finish last, when it comes to the fairer sex, nice girls always come out on top.

JOYCE SO

American historian Washington Irving once said, "There is in every true woman's heart, a spark of heavenly fire, which lies dormant in the broad daylight of prosperity, but which kindles up and beams and blazes in the dark hour of adversity." And if there's one woman in the history of our magazine who knows the meaning of an existential challenge, it's model Joyce So. The chinita beauty, who was stricken with breast cancer in 2008, did not let the follies of illness blanket her being. Instead, she rose to the occasion, took charge of her womanhood, and kicked cancer in its crappy ass. For her bravery alone, Joyce remains to be one of the strongest females we've encountered. And based on these photos, you can see she has prospered, kindled up, beamed and blazed in the dark hours of adversity.

Photography: Jay Tablante

NESTLE GARCIA

Sometimes a girl is so sweet to look at that she can cause a toothache. Case in point: Eye Candies front-woman Nestle Garcia. Aside from being named after a famous chocolate company, having delicious curves and a singing voice that will make you salivate, she confessed to us that she herself is into mouthwatering sweets. She likes jawbreakers and gobstoppers, hard-shelled candies that need a bit of tongue action to get to the delectable middle. And like these, you need to put in a lot of effort before she puts out. But when she does, make sure you've set an appointment with your resident dentist.

LJ REYES

To use the image of angels as a vehicle for sexiness is as old as the earliest pinup girl tattoos. It's the oxymoronic mix of holy naughtiness that brings men to their knees. Imagine actress LJ Reyes, a stunning woman, skin as smooth as butter, with wings reaching for the high heavens, coyly asking you to pray for sensual deliverance—yes, it's sinful. But a heavenly creature, with pure talent to back up her natural sex appeal, is the divine design that ensures success. And LJ, still at it after more than seven years in the industry, is one of the few that can be considered as blessed.

JANNA DOMINGUEZ

Janna Dominguez's voluptuous body sends us up in the air. No, we mean it. It really does, especially for her Ladies' Confessions Volume 5 appearance, where we accosted a helicopter to zoom across the horizon, adding drama to the bold concept of the day's shoot. Janna is no stranger to adrenaline. Her participation in the local version of Fear Factor opened doors to broader (and sexier) career opportunities. And now, whenever Janna bares her assets for our rag, we can't help but hear our hearts pounding a little bit faster, because just like a helicopter ride, Janna is able to induce a unique rush of unadulterated excitement.

JADE LOPEZ

Jade Lopez is the type of girl you could take home to your mother. She's sweet, friendly, has a psychology degree and the face of an angel, and carries herself with elegance sans of any air of entitlement. Imagine our surprise when she appeared on the derelict set of our February 2012 cover shoot looking like a vamp ready to rock the loins of FHM Nation. The StarStruck alum and VIVA talent, clad in sheer lingerie and killer heels, transformed from girl-next-door to empowered dominatrix. But the hypnotic quality of Jade is that, post-shoot, minus all the smoke and mirrors, she reverts back to her adorable self, ready to impress and meet the parents.

DANIELLE CASTAÑO

In this pseudo-superficial world we live in where good looks are put on premium, there's bound to be a handful of women who fancy world peace as their philanthropic contribution to society. There were 109 countries that joined the Miss World pageant in 2008, and if you factored in all those girly parts, you'd get 218 pairs of bountiful breasts, the same number of long legs, but of course, only one winner. FHM cover girl and 2008 Miss World Philippines representative Danielle Castano may not have won the crown that year, yet when she debuted on our pages on February 2012, men across the nation plead fealty to her Amazon appeal, piercing doe eyes, and regally luscious gams. She may have not staked her claims for peace on Earth, but we'd gladly have her be our queen and ruler any day.

VALERIE CONCEPCION

Unless you happen to be the deviant that is Family Guy's Stewie, we all once had the ability to giggle. And then at a certain age, at certain junctures, things happen that open our eyes to the foolishness of it all. Bills. Taxes. Funeral plans. Whatever a "mortgage" is. And for women, unexpected motherhood—that always seems to be a reliable fuel for frowns. Not for Valerie it isn't, a mother at 16—a fact you probably wouldn't have known if it were only her full-figured body that did all the talking. In spite of that, she can still be as giggly as a high school girl, which makes her exactly the kind of woman you need to distract yourself from the depressing reality of death and taxes. The way she dons lacey underwear certainly couldn't possibly hurt too.

BIANCA KING

If ever you're in that situation where your inheritance from your morena-hating colonial-era lola will be locked in escrow until you bring home a wife she approves of, bring home Bianca King. A true mestiza beauty—and one as immortally morning fresh as her—should do the trick quite nicely. But before you do, make sure to help her wash off that Kirara makeup she wears for one of her soaps. Then afterwards, verify that her riddled-with-daddy-issues character in an indie movie with Ramon Bautista was all just an act. And then you're all set—as if you'd still yearn for any bigger reward than finding yourself with a woman who will forever remain a sweet-faced kolehiyala you'd want to take care of from now until you snap out of it.

JED MONTERO

If you follow UAAP Women's Volleyball, we're sure it isn't for the strategic spikes and tenacious serves. Volleybelles are among the most gorgeous local athletes in existence, with their short shorts, toned physiques, and undying stamina. Host, model, and actress Jed Montero was a former volleyball player whose dusky beauty was indubitable on and off the court. It was apparent that more was in store for the stunner after collegiate competitions as her foray into the world of show business sealed her star potential. Just take a look and you'll see that she hasn't lost her ability to serve, and serve it up really well.

SAM OH

Sam Oh not only helped open the doors of opportunity for fellow Koreans Grace Lee and Jinri Park to make it in our entertainment industry, she set the trail blazing when she posed for FHM back in 2006. She says she doesn't find herself sexy or gorgeous, rather describing herself as a big dork. But her unsuccessful tries at being modest just add to her appeal. And a brainy beauty with a rocking body like her will never fail in setting men's desires aflame.

AMANDA GRIFFIN

At the time prior to her FHM cover, Amanda Griffin was the “it” girl of “it” girls. Being that, it seemed impossible for her to grace this mag’s pages with her presence. Well, the November 2006 issue happened, and you have her son to thank for that. Because she mentioned that one of her reasons in succumbing to the offer is so she could show her kids someday how, you know, their mom was one of the Sexiest women in the land back in the day. All we can say to that is, up to now, she still is.

INGRID HOLM

Half-Norwegian, half-Filipino Ingrid Holm is one of those girls who just has "it." Maybe it's because during her travels around the globe she makes sure to photograph and document it on her blog, thus reminding us of how boring our lives seem in comparison. She's one of those effortlessly cool people that girls want to be and men want to be with. Ingrid isn't only good behind a camera though, she happens to be a supermodel as well. It's just another thing that makes her tantalizingly out of our reach.

EULA VALDES

It can't be stressed enough that Eula Valdes is the queen of all cougar-dom. Her beauty is timeless and her magnetism seems to be submerged in the proverbial fountain of youth. But beyond her unassuming knack of courting double-tap looks and cheesy pick-up lines from the opposite sex, her attraction meter seems to have reached a new high with this relation: "Tanggapin mo na lang, kung patanda ka, patanda ka." Talk about having no insecurities and all confidence. Now, what could be any hotter than that?

JEAN GARCIA

Lingerie best fits a woman of Jean Garcia's caliber. The kind of woman whose supple curves have stood the test of time; whose ferocious female form has long been adored by the world of women and desired by the male nation. What's even more amazing—Jean has neither played the part of a seductress nor done any sexy photoshoots for close to half a decade now, but we will always see her as the yummy mommy who made us want to migrate to local cougar town.

SOLENN HEUSSAFF

Her face adorns countless billboards, having endorsed everything from clothes and apartments, to pizza and vodka. She performs on noontime shows. She appears in magazines as the model and the makeup artist. There's just no escaping this half-Filipina, half-French bombshell. Heck, even though she was a thousand miles away in Survivor, we simply turned on our TV's and followed her every move—perhaps imagining that it was us with the challenge of surviving on an island with her constant half-naked presence/looking hot. In fact, that fantasy is probably what rocketed her star to its current heights. And now we have her in lingerie—excuse us while we dream again.

POPS FERNANDEZ

What you see here can be likened to a very rare but precious gem. Because this here's more than a once-in-a-lifetime gig—seeing Philippine music royalty Pops Fernandez wearing sultry underwear, seductively posing for FHM—it's shockingly unexpected. Not even Pops was sure what she was getting into or why she was doing it on the day of the shoot itself. She wanted to do something she'd never done before while she could still do it, she said at the time. So cheers to the adventurous women in the world like Pops, and cheers to pleasant and unforgettable surprises.

ASSUNTA DE ROSSI

Assunta may very well be the quintessential FHM goddess. The award winning actress and multi-cover girl is one of those rare beauties whose unique looks and stunning body can be considered a work of art. Like the Venus de Milo or the Mona Lisa, one just needs to stare at her for a short period of time to realize that those coquettish features are only bestowed upon the blessed. Though she got hitched and left the FHM nation craving more, we, the mere mortals lucky enough to be in her presence, would like to kneel before Assunta one last time, and praise her for immortalizing herself on the pages of our magazine.

GISELLE TONGI

From her first go-around at show business to her latest comeback, Giselle Tongi has always portrayed characters that are rich and sosyal. But in her most recent FHM cover, she reveals that, albeit wearing glittery lingerie in a classy setting, she's a koboy at heart. That she's been broke, almost hitting rock bottom, but she managed to overcome her struggles with her street smarts. The girl that left the Philippines has now returned as a woman in full bloom. And we're all but thankful she came back, feisty as ever.

AUBREY MILES

Back in the day, Aubrey, a Voice major prior to leaving men speechless while bathed in a golden glow or smudged in gray goo or wearing a blue wig on Twitter, had told us that she loved to sing like Aguilera and Britney. In an alternate timeline where she had become the sultrier Sarah Geronimo, she enchanted men. Alas, all we have in this reality are countless photos of her in various states of undress that has, for a long time now, enticed the hearts of men to secretly sing songs of agony for not being born as Troy Montero.

JENNYLYN MERCADO

It's been a good couple of years since Jennylyn Mercado's return to showbiz imminence. Maturity and autonomy cloud all over the Kapuso actress nowadays, but it wasn't too long ago when Jennylyn, still bordering on her ripeness, picked out our pages as an avenue for her ostensible blossoming. It lingers on like yesterday's gossip—we remember how that lingerie cover paved the way for the sexy and confident woman we're seeing today.

EHRA MADRIGAL

The other, more “well endowed,” half of the Madrigal sisters tag team. Ehra Madrigal does it all, from acting in films and television to hosting, and showing off her sexy dance skills (among other things), on shows like Party Pilipinas. She has the talents to match her killer looks. But what do we like about her best? How about her hat trick of cover appearances for FHM? Brilliant.

MICHELLE MADRIGAL

It would have been easy for Michelle to let herself be overshadowed by the exploits of her elder sibling and forever be known as “the younger sister of...” Thankfully, for the benefit of us all, she decided to show us that she deserves to be recognized as a bona fide bombshell in her own right. And what a stunner she is, from being a finalist on Star Circle Quest to strutting around in bikinis on Celebrity Survivor, we don’t want her slipping out of our sight anytime soon.

RICA PERALEJO

Rica has gone through more image changes in her career than your average showbiz personality. A cutesy-doodle teenager with a ponytail and wholesome as heaven jumpers. A thriving sexy star who came of age and appeared in flicks such as Dos Ekis and Balahibong Pusa. A full-grown gal who made peace with maturity and became a family woman. Regardless of whatever stage she's in, we wouldn't mind seeing her in lingerie again.

FRANCINE PRIETO

There's nothing Francine Prieto couldn't do. At 5'10", immaculate skin as white as a dove, legs that go on to forever, and curves that make your loins quiver and quake, she's hands down a serious bombshell who you don't mind feasting your eyes upon. More than just a pretty face with the natural gift of seduction, she's also made a career out of her quirky sense of humor. She's taken to speaking her mind and hosting her own radio show. All in all, she's just all that.

MAUREEN LARRAZABAL

Maureen Larrazabal isn't afraid to hide anything from her adoring public. Yes, she's bared some skin in movies, posed for this rag more than a couple of times, and given perma-smiles to a ton of men across the country. But unlike most big-head celebrities, she isn't ashamed of telling the truth and being proud of it. Back in 2007, Maureen admitted that she's gone under the knife for some areas on her body. Truthfully, though, we could care less—she still is one hell of a babe with killer bumpers.

PATRICIA JAVIER

We are all secretly hoping for a Patricia Javier comeback. During the height of her career, she left for the U.S., got hitched, and welcomed motherhood with open arms. Google her today and you'll only get two results: either videos of her glory days as the late '90s to early 2000s queen dream weaver of Pinoy Men or images of her all clothed (yet still smoking-hot) and wearing the biggest of smiles while carrying her two little rug rats alongside her hubby. You can't help but think the void she's left hasn't been filled, and maybe, it won't ever be. Still, miracles do happen, hopefully in form of a photo-shoot. Make no question about it, we'll be waiting for Patricia to make us prophets and once again make our dreams come true.

ELLEN ADARNA

Ellen Adarna's goods are all up on the Internet for the taking. Because before she became every man's (and possibly every woman's) favorite wet dream after two wildly successful FHM covers, she was all over your friend's friends' Friendster. There was (and still is) indeed an abundance of stolen photos, and even videos, of her at her most candid and it seemed that everybody had (still has) a fondness for admiring of her beauty. We are guilty of the same pleasure, and that's why she's here: We just couldn't get enough.

MYLENE DIZON

Debuting as the fresh-faced Melanie Suntay on Gimik, Mylene Dizon cemented herself as the crush ng bayan for a legion of fans. She had the girl-next-door looks that teenage dreams were made of, but it was her breast-baring role as Pilar in Gatas that really shook things up. Despite the bomba-like title, it wasn't her transition to bold stardom but it did land her a Best Actress award, and on the cover of FHM. She hasn't quite hit that level of daring again, but just seeing her sweet face reminds us she'll always be that girl-next-door we whiled away the days of our youth thinking about.

RUFA MAE QUINTO

While it's all but natural for funny gals to pull you in into their tractor beam of charms, sexy comedienne Rufa Mae Quinto can definitely do more than just crack a joke. Her "mala-porselana" skin, sexy hazel peepers, and eye-popping "hubog" stir a raw feeling in you laughter just couldn't. And what about her voluptuous God-given twins? You won't admit it, but you'd be staring at them way before you realize it. And that's why we'll keep asking for more of Rufa Mae's punch lines—it's an excuse to admire her, without anyone knowing.

KATRINA HALILI

Oh, how sweet it is to establish a mutual understanding with a two-time nation's finest. It was back in early 2008 when Katrina, still reigning as the country's queen of sexy, appeared on our cover for the third time to endorse a new line of lingerie. To think that she considered our magazine as a boulevard for her next venture was grand. To see it all unfold in one exceptional issue was golden. To have the means to make it happen again would be precious.

DIANA ZUBIRI

The thing with sex-goddesses-turned-acclaimed-actresses such as Diana Zubiri is that people are always gonna wanna know when these babes would make a comeback to their sexy star roots. There's no telling whether Diana would go against said protocol, but if she indeed sticks to her newfound acclaim, then it sure has been an honor for us to have featured Ms. Zubiri in all of her naked glory for the final time. That July 2008 cover proves to be her career clincher.

ARA MINA

It's only natural among siblings that the older ones set the bar high for others in the family to match or surpass. At present, what once was a sibling rivalry in terms of who between Ara Mina and Cristine Reyes figures most in the fantasies of men has become one-sided, favoring the latter. But back in the day, as seen here, Ara set the bar at stratospheric levels all right. The years of convincing her to grace FHM's pages were all worth it. The "At Last" on the cover aptly refers to the collective groan of men across the archipelago.

ORNUSA CADNESS

Thai-Kiwi head-turner Ornusa Cadness doesn't believe in any religion. "It's not that I don't believe in anything. Its just that I don't practice anything," she says. Now, we don't exactly know what her views on the existence of God are, but thanks to her amazing long legs and knee-buckling sex appeal, we most certainly believe there's a God. And... just in case there isn't, Ornusa is still proof that there's a piece of heaven here on Earth.

CINDY KURLETO

Cindy's stay under the public spotlight may have been criminally short. For the short time we had her, though, it was also criminally sweet. A certified hit the day she landed on TV, she made waves the same way Daiana Menezes did, only less Brazilian and more Austrian. Like Daiana, she soon made her way to the magazine's cover where she put her imported good looks to effective use, garnering enough following to crack the 100 Sexiest's Top 10 from 2003 to 2006. By 2007, she disappeared without a trace, leaving us with nothing but thoughts of what more could have been and memories of her terrific form.

CRISTINE REYES

In an industry where thinly veiled denials are pretty much SOP, Cristine stands out from the rest of the pack of hot, young items, for being one so transparent. A few number of times, the candid actress had been involved in a number of feuds. Whereas most others would be all, like, "What are you talking about?" Cristine had always been forthright, speaking her mind shackle-free, and in tones that only fortify her don't-mess-with-my-heart charm. Once she had been FHM's finest. The woman is fine. But her true desirability lies in that she's hopelessly unreachable. And she'd tell that straight to our faces before pointing us toward these thinly veiled photographs of her.

SANYA SMITH

Fil-American Sanya Smith maintains that she has trouble with time management. "I'm always late," she admits. But, maybe it is just part of her personality to carry that reckless abandon same way rock stars do. Considering who her father is—OPM legend Pepe Smith—she may be spending most of her time rocking and rolling all night and partying every day. But really, whatever the reason is, we couldn't be more thankful that whenever we requested for her, she showed up, strutted her stuff and did her thing time and time again.

JOANNE QUINTAS

Raver dudes of yesteryear would probably remember the Amazonian beauty that is Joanne Quintas as that lovely woman dressed as a fairy, an angel, or sporting some other far-out getup, telling them to stand up and drink some water during those rave parties in the early 2000s. As one of the brains behind Big Fish, she was in the business of bringing joy and pleasure to the masses. It's indubitable that Joanne knew how to party. And now that she's living a quiet life as a mother, we are content at looking at these striking pictures from the past and celebrating Joanne as the belle of the ball she was and always will be.

JACKIE FORSTER

FHM has been lucky enough to have a number of bosom buddies sharing the cover. Most recently we've had supermodels Ornusa Cadness's and Sanya Smith's svelte bodies covered in paint. Or who can forget sisters in harmony Michelle and Ehra Madrigal sharing cover space in barely-there lingerie? But it was the dynamic duo of Jackie Forster and Joanne Quintas that set the bar for the future. And it was Jackie looking unstoppable and undeniably sexy—with her best friend, mind you—who was a foretelling portrait of woman empowerment.

CRISTINA GARCIA

Cristina, who is the type of model who can contort her limbs and body in more ways than a marionette and still look exquisite, is the quintessential Renaissance woman. The once budding interior designer's September 2000 cover earned the title best ever in the magazine's 50th issue. Revisiting her interview, she had us scrambling to Google the things she had expressed fondness for, namely Euripides (some ancient Greek author), Yeats (whose poem, "When You Are Old," she recited in its entirety), and Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream (clearly, we devoted too much time on Simpsons and little else). What common ground did we have with her? Well, she appreciates good bacon and juicy watermelons, she said. Gentlemen, there's your opening.

JOYCE JIMENEZ

A handful of men, now in their late 20s, can thank Joyce Jimenez for her contribution to their sexual awakening. When she exploded onto the scene, there was no one else like her. She stood out in a sea of young starlets capitalizing on heavy drama films strewn with a lot (and we mean a lot) of nudity. Those who followed her ascent to stardom will remember sneaking into R-18 films like Warat or Scorpio Nights 2, if not embarrassingly checking out bulky VHS tapes of them out of their neighborhood ACA Video. To call Joyce iconic in the business of sexy would be an understatement. Her petite and curvy body never belied her quick wit and good nature, a radiant and eye-opening combination of beauty, brains, and personality.

WHAT ARE YOU WEARING?

No need to ask your lady this question anymore—we're telling you everything you need to know

01 Lingerie 101: A corset is an elongated bra that covers the entire torso. A thong has the same coverage in front as a regular pair of panties but only has a thin elastic string at the back that keeps butt cheeks exposed. Garter belts are used to hold up thigh-high stockings to keep them from rolling down. Boy-short undies are your woman's version of your boxer briefs, cut only shorter and way snugger along the butt. A baby doll is a short nightie that falls right by the hips and are usually sheer or made out of lace or satin. A teddy is a one-piece bodysuit or a sando and-panty combo that's usually made out of lace or sheer fabric.

02 Into the whole S&M thing? You'll love a leather corset set on your ladylove for some sub-dom action in the playroom. Don't forget the whip for a spanking sexy time.

03 You might find a baby doll nightie with a furry trim a big turn-on in the bedroom. Make good use of the fabric and maximize the tickling sensations by rubbing the fur on your skin. Return the favor and use it on her to heighten her mood—that's what we call functional dressing.

04 A thong by any other name is just as sexy. It's been called a G-String, C-String, V-String, T-Back, Dental Floss, Rio Thong—but whatever name you call it, it doesn't diminish your excitement in seeing what it doesn't cover.

05 We have the crazy old royals to thank for the corset. Catherine Medici, wife of King Henry II, banned thick waists on women at court and preferred women to have 10 to 13 inch waistlines—achievable by tortuous whalebone corsets.

06 In 1913, a New York socialite named Mary Phelps Jacob cut, sewed, and altered two silk handkerchiefs and ribbon to create the first ever bra, and thus made the first modern patent.

07 Natives from different cultures all over the world, including the ancient Egyptians and even our own bahag-wearing tribes, may have inspired the thong's inception, making thong-wearing an acceptable social norm. We say women should wear them more often as a symbol of indigenous pride.

08 Silk is one of the most common fabrics used for lingerie. Its soft and smooth texture can leave a stimulating sensation for both you and the wearer. Try a little rubbing action as foreplay before doing the deed.

09 Black + lace turns you on? Probably because its sexy, naughty, and mysterious feel on a woman's body, according to a poll conducted by Cosmopolitan Philippines in February 2012. Buy your girl a piece in this classy combo and you'll both be happy.

10 Boy shorts look good on a woman with a straight, sporty athletic frame, since it accentuates one of the curviest parts of a woman's body: the hip and butt area.

11 Set the mood with her in a full on lingerie ensemble from head to toe. Ready for the main event? Strip everything off her except for the garter belts with her on top for an erotic kinky view.

12 Can't get enough of her lady humps? A thong gives you easy access to go for a quickie by pushing the G-string to the side as you enter her from behind. Go ahead and ogle away!
