The first thing I do with every issue is change the cover. Even if it's not the photo we are going to use, to me it means a new month.

This month we started with a photo of Brit from Fred Jennings. It stuck with an alternate cover of Nicolette.

Thank God for some new Kardashian news, right?

I'm not sure how new these photos are but TMZ is just now reporting on them. It seems that Kris Jenner/Kardashian has posed for some pretty provocative photos. There's only so much they can do with photo shop and the 58 year old Kardashian matriarch looks absolutely amazing.

So looks so damn good that I spent 30 minutes looking for unedited photos of her in a wet t-shirt. Seriously!

In other Kardashian news...

Kanye jokingly stormed the stage during the Grammy Awards last month after Beck won Album of the Year.

When Kanye walked off, Beck actually begged him to come back. Beck isn't stupid, he's seen what Kanye did for Taylor Swift's career and since I had NO IDEA Beck had a new album, he could use the press.

STORY OF THE MONTH

What's with all the uproar over Sports Illustrated featuring a "plus size" model? Really? First, let me say that Ashley Graham isn't a plus size model...she's a grown woman! She is the embodiment of what a sexy women actually looks like. Second, most men would take her over an ass less, 95 lb., no sandwich eating model any day. It's all about that bass!

Irish Beauties

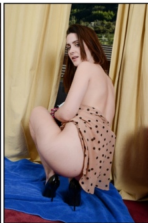

We spanned the globe to find a few beauties that call Ireland their birthplace in celebration of this month's St. Patrick's day. I mean we literally had to scan the globe. Actress Katie McGrath is hot but she hasn't really crossed the pond. Tilly McCreese is known for having a large body (Hint: she has them in 2 places). As for Tonya Trianta, she cute. The same can be said for Rosalind Lipsett. From our list - Laurena Lacy and Rosanna Davison are both drop dead gorgeous. The one thing that sets them apart is Rosanna's pedigree. Bringing Sexy Back

Raquel Welch

One of the little known facts about Raquel is that she actually Hispanic. Born Jo Raquel Tejada, she rose to stardom in a time in this country when the last name Tejada would have gotten her shown the door in no uncertain terms. The last name Welch...a different story! Playboy listed her as one of the sexiest women of the 20th century, Men's Health listed her at No. 2 on their Hot-test Women of All Time. There's no question that Raquel has reached sex symbol status.

Yes it might be unusual for us to select a woman dressed in sweat pants and hoodie for the Hot Selfie Award but we suggest you take a really close look at the photo.

This is so hot that we felt like we were in the desert hanging out with a bunch of camels. We got all tingly from head to toe. If you know what we mean!

Follow Jenny @ ...Full disclosure, we're really not sure who this is. We contacted "her" via email and got an offer to buy her videos and pics. Great pic, not sure it's legit!

Top Floor Magazine answers the questions submitted to the Playboy Advisor

My father cheated, my friends cheat, and I'm ashamed to say that I have cheated. I do not want to cheat anymore. Is there a medical procedure to curb my appetite? Would having my testicles removed do anything? - D.S., San Diego, California

Well, I'm sure it would but then you would have to remove your eyes too. Studies show that there is a genetic component to cheating but there is also a psychological aspect. When you see a woman, removing your testicles won't stop you from finding her attractive. The next thing you know, you're imaging her naked and so on. According to Walter Kern, an injection or pill that stops the desire to commit adultery would do nothing to change your guilt. Instead of feeling guilty for committing the act, you would feel guilty for having so little self control that you would have to get an injection or take a pill. The best thing to do is either accept that you have the type of appetite that require a wide selection and stopping committing yourself to one person. Or you can settle down and I mean settle down.

A few weeks ago, I saw my roommate's girlfriend at a party. We had a few drinks, then shared a taxi back to my place. My roommate wasn't home, so we went inside for a few more drinks and ended up sharing grievances and having sex. We've had sex a few times since. Should I tell him? - D.J., Miami, Florida

I have to admit that I think there's a little more to this story. You both end up in the same place, the roommate isn't home...was this planned? No way you both had no idea that he wouldn't be home. But I digress. I suggest that you let her tell him. I wouldn't be there when she tells him. That said, it would probably be a good idea for you to find your own place first and I strongly suggest that you don't move in with her.

LEAKED

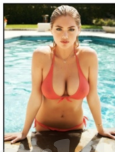

Kate Upton

From the batch of hacked photos last summer - Jennifer Lawrence, most recently of Hunger Games fame was seemingly the only celebrity to come out fighting.

Lawrence stated that the hacked photos should be considered a sex crime.

As I've said in the past this really isn't no a crime than someone eavesdropping on one of your phone conversations...just my opinion.

The easiest way to prevent your naked body from being shared with the world is not having them on your phone. Yes, believe it or not it's still just a phone.

How to properly shine shoes & boots

What You Need:

- Shoe Polish
 - Cloth
 - Water or Alcohol
1. Spread a medium-thick layer of paste polish over the portion of the shoe or boot to be spit shined.
 2. Allow it to dry for 5 to 10 minutes.
 3. Wrap a soft, clean cloth around your index finger so that it is smooth (no wrinkles). Alternately, you can use a cotton ball. Dip your finger or the cotton ball into a container of water. The cloth/cotton should be wet, but not dripping.
 4. Still using the damp rag on your finger, apply a fine layer of polish in a circular motion and keep on rubbing lightly until a hazy shine develops.
 5. Using the (now) damp cloth, or cotton ball, keep applying THIN coats of wax, buffing them with a small circular motion.
 6. When the shoe or boot is highly glossed, use a clean dry soft cloth or a shining brush to give it a final buff.

Jupiter Ascending

Jupiter Jones (Mila Kunis) was born under a night sky, with signs predicting that she was destined for great things.

Now grown, Jupiter dreams of the stars but wakes up to the cold reality of a job cleaning toilets and an endless run of bad breaks.

Kingsmen: The Secret Service

Kingsman: The Secret Service tells the story of a super-secret spy organization that recruits an unrefined but promising street kid into the agency's ultra-competitive training program just as a global threat emerges from a twisted tech genius.

No Good Deed

A charming escaped convict gains entry to a mother's home by claiming car trouble, and proceeds to terrorize her and her children, shattering her idyllic suburban life.

Without being the spoiler on this film, if you haven't already heard about it from your friends and family - you really have to wait until the end before it begins to make sense. That said, it's full of drama and great acting with the exception of the husband (Henry Simmons) who puts in a very Tyler Perry (Oh My God, that's really overacting) performance. Luckily, that's early and doesn't last long. The rest is edge of your seat, what the fuck is going on here drama. It might slow down a bit at the end as you struggle to figure it out but the shocking ending will satisfy.

Album of the Month

I didn't read the books, I doubt that I will see the movie - at least not in the theatre. However, when I previewed the Fifty Shades of Grey sound-track...I felt the sexual tension from the books that I've heard so much about. I could see the movie in the music. That said, I have one simple rule...If I like five tracks on that album then it's worth the money. This compilation has at least five solid tracks and a few that are just really good. If you're a fan of Tori Amos, Ani DiFranco or just great sexy tracks then you will definitely want to pick this up.

What's the Difference

America...the greatest country on the planet earth!
We have a constitution, laws and a peaceful exchange of power that happens ever four to eight years. We are one country under God, indivisible. At least that's what we pledge (or used to pledge) everyday. It seems there are some that don't believe in the pledge so we've done away with that for the most part. We are divided on so many issues that Congress has become completely dysfunctional. The only thing we seem to agree on is that we are a country of great morality.

Or are we?

Women

What's the difference between this...

and this...

We Americans are quick to criticize the Burka. The feminist in this country have called it patriarchal oppression and there has even been a call for banning the garment. There was a story in the Daily Beast detailing why American law enforcement is against it.

And yet...

- 22 million woman in the United States have been raped in their lifetime.
- 18% of the women in the United States have been the victims of attempted rape.

- Every 90 seconds a woman in the United States is sexually assaulted. (Calculation based on 2012 National Crime Victimization Survey. Bureau of Justice Statistics, U.S. Department of Justice)
- About one-third of female murder victims ages 12 or older are killed by an intimate partner. (Department of Justice 2007)
- The costs of intimate partner violence against women exceed an estimated $5.8 billion. These costs include nearly $4.1 billion in the direct costs of medical care and mental health care and nearly $1.8 billion in the indirect costs of lost productivity and present value of lifetime earnings. (Costs of Intimate Partner Violence Against Women in the United States, Department of Health and Human Services, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, National Center for Injury Prevention and Control, Atlanta, Georgia, March 2003).
- An estimated 17,500 women and children are trafficked into the United States annually for sexual exploitation or forced labor. (U.S. Department of State Trafficking in Persons Report 2012).

Children

I recently discovered the United Nations Convention on the Rights of a Child which was signed November 20, 1989. The Convention deals with the child-specific needs and rights. It requires that states act in the best interests of the child. This approach is different from the common law approach found in many countries that had previously treated children as possessions or chattels, ownership of which was sometimes argued over in family disputes. The Convention forbids capital punishment for children. The Committee on the Rights of the Child stated that there was an "obligation of all state parties to move quickly to prohibit and eliminate all corporal punishment and all other cruel or degrading forms of punishment of children".

Currently 194 countries have are parties to the treaty (some with stated reservations or interpretations) including every member of the United Nations except Somalia, South Sudan and the United States.

- Across the United States, thousands of children have been sentenced as adults and sent to adult prisons.
- Nearly 3000 nationwide have been sentenced to life imprisonment without the possibility of parole.
- Children as young as 13 years old have been tried as adults and sentenced to die in prison, typically without any consideration of their age or circumstances of the offense.
- Fourteen states have no minimum age for trying children as adults. Children as young as eight have been prosecuted as adults. Some states set the minimum age at 10, 12, or 13.
- Some 10,000 children are housed in adult jails and prisons on any given day in America.
- Children are five times more likely to be sexually assaulted in adult prisons than in juvenile facilities and face increased risk of suicide.

So what's the difference between this...

and this...

What's worse is there have been 14+ teens killed by law enforcement SINCE the Michael Brown murder.

VonDerrit Myers Jr. was shot in the head in early October not far from where Michael Brown died two months earlier. The 18-year-old was shot six or seven times in the Shaw neighborhood of St. Louis after an off-duty police officer fired at him 17 times. Police say Myers charged at the policeman, they wrestled, and then he shot at least three bullets before his gun jammed. Myers had been out on bail in a gun case, but his family claimed he was unarmed and holding only a sandwich in his hand. That night, a crowd of 300 gathered at the scene, and violence broke out: gunshots echoed and police vehicles were damaged. The officer who shot Myers was identified as Jason Flanery, a 32-year-old white patrolman.

On the evening of September 21, police were called to check on reports of trespassers with weapons going into an abandoned home in Terrebonne, Louisiana. Cameron Tillman, a 14-year-old boy was shot dead on the scene by a sheriff's deputy. His brother, who was there, said he was shot opening the door and was unarmed, but the police said he was armed and that a gun was recovered near his body. It was later reported that the weapon was a BB gun that appeared to be a .45-caliber pistol. The cop was not named, but was identified as an African-American veteran of the division with no prior infractions.

Few details have been revealed about the shooting of an 18-year-old girl in Long Beach, California last week. Officers were responding to a report of a missing juvenile girl, and found her in the house of Carey Smith-Viramontes. According to police, Smith-Viramontes was armed with a knife and was shot dead by an officer on the scene.

Eighteen-year-old Dillon McGee of Jackson, Tennessee, died after being shot by police officers who claim he was attempting to run them over in a car. On September 26, officers were targeted after approaching a car, driven by McGee, and fired at the driver.

Some 500 anti-police protesters took to Chicago's streets after a 19-year-old man's death at the hands of police. On August 24, Roshad McIntosh was being questioned by cops when he began running. Police say he pulled a gun on them, but his family claimed that McIntosh was kneeling on the ground with his hands in the air. Nearly a month later, his mother brought another protest to city hall, demanding answers in her son's killing.

A mentally ill woman brandishing a power drill was shot dead by an officer after she called 911 and told San Jose dispatchers she had an Uzi. Diana Showman, 19, had come out of her house, ignored demands to put down the weapon, and was shot once. Showman's parents criticized the officer's response, saying that the police needed to be better equip to handle mental health issues.

What actually made me take a closer look at how children are treated in this country was the film Kids for Cash.

The "kids for cash" scandal unfolded in 2008 over judicial kickbacks at the Luzerne County Court of Common Pleas in Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania.

Two judges, President Judge Mark Ciavarella and Senior Judge Michael Conahan, were accused of accepting money from Robert Mericle, builder of two private, for-profit youth centers for the detention of juveniles, in return for contracting with the facilities and imposing harsh adjudications on juveniles brought before their courts to increase the number of residents in the centers.

Ciavarella adjudicated children to extended stays in youth centers for offenses as minimal as mocking a principal on Myspace, trespassing in a vacant building, or shoplifting DVDs from Walmart.

By extended stay we're talking about 2 years locked up for joyriding in their mother's car or three months in the case of creating a Myspace page to poke fun at their principle.

One of the most tragic examples of Ciavarella's effect on families in the area comes from Sandy Fonzo. Fonzo's son Edward Kenzakoski was sentenced by Ciavarella to juvenile detention in 2003 for possession of drug paraphernalia. Fonzo said her 17-year-old son had no prior record when he landed in Ciavarella's courtroom. She claims Kenzakoski never recovered from the months he served behind bars and years later, at 23, he killed himself.

This is no way to treat our children.

Racism

What's the difference between this...

And this...

Long before the war on terrorism, there were many citizens in this country were suffering from the terrorist that lived door the street, ran you local grocery store, sat on the city council and policed your streets. Sometimes they came in sheets, other times they looked like this...

What's the difference between this...

Or this...

And this...

Yes, I am a citizen of the United States and I believe in the founding principles of the United States.

Yet, at the same time I can't ignore the history.

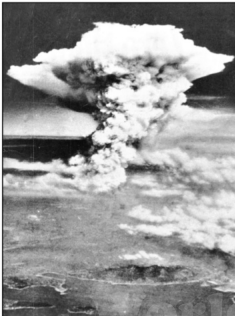

A history where...

- We continue to celebrate Christopher Columbus for "discovering" a country that was already inhabited while ignoring the complete slaughter of it's inhabitants.
- We continue to hold up a declaration of independence which states that all men are created equal, signed by slave earners.
- 120,000 people of Japanese Ancestry were imprisoned in internment camps - 62% of Japanese Americans, meaning they were born and raised in America.

- 246,000 people were killed during the bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

I'm not naïve, I understand that in certain circumstances military action must be taken in order to save American lives.

That's not really my point.

Also, I want to make it clear to all those reading that I am in no way anti-American.

The point that I'm trying to make is simple.

There's a saying that when you point your finger there are three pointing back at you.

America has been passing judgment on other countries for decades while doing very little to solve the problems here at home.

In some cases, as with the Japanese internment camps, that finger pointing has caused a lot of questions about the true morality of America.

We live in a country where people fight to make abortion illegal while completely ignoring that the fact that women are assaulted in this country on a regular basis.

We are constantly hearing about pro-life and pro-choice but what about pro-woman?

What is wrong with stricter penalties for those who violate, rape or murder women in this country?

Why are we protesting burkas?

As it applies to children, why are we spending $680 billion on the military and $70 billion on education?

Can you imagine if Ciavarella would have had private investors build additional schools or a massive latchkey facility instead of privatized juvenile prisons?

What would have happened if we took the challenged children of our society and spent $170 billion on programs to keep them out of jail.

Hell, we could take the tax dollars that were wasted on the grounded F-35 fighter plane and solve many of the problems that plague the United States...but we would rather spend it on "cool shit" for the military.

It's so easy for us Americans to criticize our neighbors for having an unkempt yard while our lawnmower is hidden by two feet of grass.

The United States has...

- The highest infant mortality rate in the world
- The highest juvenile imprisonment rate in the world
- The highest over imprisonment rate in the world

- The United States ranks 14th in education
- The U.S. ranks 44th in health care efficiency
- Ranked 23rd in gender equality
- According to UNICEF, the United States ranks 26th in child well-being
- Ranks 24th in literacy
- The United States ranks #1 in the number of people with a net worth of more than $50 million
- 9th in retirement security
- The United States is the ONLY INDUSTRIALIZED SOCIETY IN THE WORLD THAT DOES NOT HAVE UNIVERSAL HEALTH CARE!

The most important statistic of all...

According to the research firm IPSOS Mori, the United States ranks second out of fourteen countries in general ignorance about social statistics such as teen pregnancy, unemployment rates, and voting patterns.

Go figure! The only country generally more ignorant than the U.S. is Italy - a country that our American media somehow makes fun of.

Instead of getting off of our asses and mowing our own lawn, we hide behind words like freedom and liberty to justify the immorality that exists in our own backyard.

We are all victims of a propaganda campaign that's convinced us all that as a country we can do no wrong. We look down our noses at some of the horrific events that occur around the world and condemn them without bothering to take a moment and really focus on the atrocities that have become the fabric of our nation.

I can only hope that at some point we stop policing the world and begin to solve some of our own problems.

- Surely! He is my fantasy, his posters are all over the walls of my room.

Daddy turns to his eldest son Raul and asks:

- Would you sleep with Tom Cruise for 1 million dollars!

His eldest son thinks a little and replies:

- Why not? Imagine what I could do with that money. So yes, I would sleep.

Then daddy turns back to his youngest son Paul and explains him:

- You see, Paul, potentially we are sitting with multi millionaires but in reality we are sitting with two prostitutes and a gay guy.

Why is having fun with a prostitute like bungee jumping?

If the rubber breaks, you could die.

Sometimes during the weekends I drink some water just to surprise my liver.

A cowboy was taken prisoner by a bunch of angry Indians. They were all prepared to kill him but their Chief declared that since they were celebrating the Great Spirit, they would grant the cowboy three wishes before killing him.

The Chief comes up to him and asks:

- What do you want for your first wish?

- I want talk to my horse, - replies the cowboy.

The Chief allows him to talk to the horse. The cowboy whispers in its ear. The horse neighs, rears back, and takes off at full speed. About an hour later, the horse comes back with a naked lady on its back.

Well, the Indians are very impressed, so they let the cowboy use one of their teepees. A little while later, the cowboy stumbles out of the teepee, tucking in his shirt.

The Chief asks him once again:

- What do you want for your second wish?

- I want to talk to my horse, - once again replies the cowboy.

Again, the cowboy whispers in the horse's ear. The horse neighs, rears back, and takes off at full speed. About an hour later, the horse comes back with another naked lady on its back. Well, the Indians are very impressed indeed. So, once again, they let the cowboy use one of their teepees. The cowboy stumbles out a little while later.

The chief comes up to the cowboy and asks:

- So, what do you want for your last third wish?

- I want to talk to my horse, - for the third time replies the cowboy.

He grabs the horse by the ears and yells at it:

- You stupid animal, I said POSSE, POSSE not PUSSY!!!

A young boy enters a barber shop and the barber whispers to his customer, "This is the dumbest kid in the world. Watch while I prove it to you." The barber puts a dollar bill in one hand and two quarters in the other, then calls the boy over and asks, "Which do you want, son?" The boy takes the quarters and leaves. "What did I tell you?" said the barber. "That kid never learns!" Later, when the customer leaves, he sees the same young boy coming out of the ice cream store. "Hey, son! May I ask you a question? Why did you take the quarters instead of the dollar bill?" The boy licked his cone and replied, "Because the day I take the dollar, the game is over!"

A guy meets a hooker in a bar. She says, "This is your lucky night. I've got a special game for you. I'll do absolutely anything you want for $300, as long as you can say it in three words." The guy replies, "Hey, why not?" He pull his wallet out of his pocket, and one at a time lays three hundred-dollar bills on the bar, and says, slowly: "Paint...my... house."

A guy shows up late for work. The boss yells "You should have been here at 8:30!" he replies: "Why? What happened at 8:30?"

A newlywed couple moves into their new house. One day the husband comes home from work and his wife says, "Honey, you know, in the upstairs bathroom one of the pipes is leaking, could you fix it?" The husband says, "What do I look like, Mr. Plumber?" A few days go by, and he comes home from work and his wife says, "Honey, the car won't start. I think it needs a new battery. Could you change it for me?" He says: "What do I look like, Mr. Goodwrench?" Another few days go by, and it's raining pretty hard. The wife finds a leak in the roof. She says, "Honey, there's a leak on the roof! Can you please fix it?" He says, "What do I look like, Bob Vila?" The next day the husband comes home, and the roof is fixed. So is the plumbing. So is the car. He asks his wife what happened. "Oh, I had a handyman come in and fix them," she says. "Great! How much is that going to cost me?" he snarls. Wife says: "Nothing. He said he'd do it for free if I either baked him a cake or slept with him." "Uh, well, what kind of cake did you make?" asks the husband. "What do I look like," she says, "Betty Crocker?"

I failed my driver's test. The guy asked me "what do you do at a red light?" I said, I don't know... look around, listen to the radio...

"If I can take on 100,000 protesters, I can do the same across the world."

This is what Walker said during a Q&A at the annual Conservative Political Action Conference.

Are you fucking kidding me?

So Scott, who just happens to be leading among the 2016 GOP presidential candidates, thinks that what he did to take bargaining rights away from the public servants (policemen, firemen, teachers) in his state is somehow equivalent to taking on international terrorist?

And they wonder why they can't seem to win a presidential election.

Let's start with HOW Scott Walker was able to avoid being recalled.

There was enough out of state money going into Walker's war chest that you would have thought he was running for Governor of the United States.

Fourteens of the richest people in America, donated to Scott's recall election.

Billionaire Diane Hendricks of roofing giant ABC Supply, who happens to reside in Wisconsin, donated a total of $510,000 to Walker's campaign — the biggest check for a governor's race in Wisconsin history.

Why?

Scott Walker promised her that he would bust up the unions. Yes, that actually happened!

For our digital readers you can watch the video by clicking here and for our print readers you can see the video @ <http://youtu.be/y7v8f8jBrW8>

Diane ask if there was a chance that Wisconsin would become a red state, bust up the unions and become a right to work state.

His answer - "Oh yeah," then adds: "The first step is, we're going to deal with collective bargaining for all public employee unions, use divide and conquer."

And he did just that with the help of...

- Sheldon Adelson, Las Vegas casino tycoon and prolific right-wing donor, gave $250,000.
- Christy Walton, Arkansas resident, Wal-Mart heiress and world's richest woman, pitched in $50,000.
- Thomas Peterffy of Greenwich, Conn. firm Interactive Brokers donated $10,000.
- Robert McNair, owner of the Houston Texans, gave $25,000 towards the cause.
- Joseph Craft of the billionaire Tulsa oil family donated $25,000 to Walker's reelection.
- Rich DeVos, founder of Amway and resident of Michigan, offered up $250,000.
- Stanley Hubbard, the Minnesota billionaire behind DirecTV, wrote a check for $10,000.
- Bernard Marcus, Home Depot founder and Atlanta resident, put up $50,000 for the case.
- Joe Ricketts, patriarch of the billionaire family who own the Chicago Cubs, donated $100,000.
- Trevor Rees-Jones, an oil and gas mogul from Dallas, pitched in $100,000 to Walker's campaign.
- Bruce Kovner, New York's hedge fund legend, also gave $100,000.

- Louis Bacon, also a New York billionaire and CEO of Moore Capital Management, put in $100,000.
- Patrick Ryan, founder of insurance giant Aon and resident of Illinois, donated $100,000.

And though the Koch brothers haven't donated directly to Scott Walker's campaigns, you can tell that they definitely have him on a leash.

In one of the best prank calls ever Scott Walker discusses government business with who he thinks is David Koch. We have the link above or you can find it on YouTube @ <http://youtu.be/WBnSv3a6Nh4>

He explains to "David Koch" the tactics that he is using to get democrats to go along with ending collective bargaining, which includes withholding paychecks of the members of the Senate and House and layoff notices to public workers.

Walker's amazing display of policy for purchase lead to a call to kick him out of office. Those in support of recalling Walker gathered more than a million signatures from people who agreed with them. In order to trigger the recall election, at least 540,000 had to be valid. 900,000 were found to be valid signatures.

With a voter turnout of 57.8%, Walker survived the recall by 6.8% of the vote, becoming the first governor in history to survive a recall.

And now he's the leading puppet for the GOP presidential nomination.

The problems with Romney was his constant flip flopping and gaffes DURING his campaign.

What do you do when the guy who is leading the pack has proven himself to be a whore BEFORE the nomination?

Scott Walker is their number one guy because he can be told what to do because his actions have been bought! If this joker wins the nomination, it will be the first sign of America becoming the next Rome.

Honey West Presents

These are some of my favorite things - Publisher Takeover

Shh...Honey West is away this month (probably somewhere on the beach drinking from a glass that has one of those fancy umbrella's) and if you have read TFM over the years...When HW is away, it's time for me to play!

That's right, another publisher takeover where I get to write about fun stuff...I love it!

So I'm sitting racking my brain on what fun topic I could "feature" in this takeover and the best I could come up was a list of some of my favorite things.

Believe me, there was a whole list of things from erotica to fetish and...

But since my family just happens to read the mag from time to time, I thought I would play it safe. So, here it goes and I hope you enjoy.

Favorite Food - Chicken Wings

I could eat these three times a day and I have to admit that there are times where they are the only thing that I eat, especially when I fry them. I tend to fry at least 4 lbs. at a time. When it comes to eating out, the best wings that I've ever had are Papillon's in Mesa, Arizona. The are large, tasty and you can get a pitcher of beer with them at a great price.

Favorite Beer - Otter Creek Copper Ale

Unfortunately, we can't get Otter Creek in my hometown but no worries, the brewery is located in my wife's hometown. We usually take a trip to Vermont once a year and Otter Creek is about 10 minutes from my in-laws.

Favorite Movies - Wizard of Oz, Purple Rain & Scarface

These are probably the films that I've watched the most in my lifetime. If I find them on the television, it's highly unlikely that I'll change the channel. Sometimes I watch Purple Rain while I'm working on the magazine.

Right behind my desk are two posters of Scarface. One is the actual movie poster and the other is Tony sitting at his desk with the caption "Me, I want what coming to me." I do not watch Scarface while working on the magazine...lol

Favorite Music Artist

My musical taste is all over the place! I'm a huge fan of Prince and Michael Jackson but I really like Lennon, Dylan and Hendrix. As for Patti LaBelle, every time I hear her sing it gives me chill bumps. The photo of Lennon is a poster that's on the wall to the right of my desk and there's a poster of Lennon directly in front of my desk.

Favorite Books

I loved all three of these books and really for the same reason. They all recount topics that I'm really interested in. Pimp is somewhat of the exception because I'm really not interested in becoming a pimp but what I took from that book was it's not about the street game, in life you are either a pimp or you are a whore. Meaning, you are either in control or you are the one being controlled. The more control you have over your life, the better off you will be. It also taught me that having the ability to talk to people and is a priceless skill.

Okay, so it doesn't get too boring...

Favorite Playboy Models

Pamela Anderson and Anna Nicole Smith hands down. What's so unusual about that is in my personal life, I'm really not attracted to blondes and yet I think that these two have been two of the best that Playboy has had to offer in my lifetime. Though Playmate Tiffany Fallon gets an honorable mention.

Favorite Adult Actresses

Vanessa del Rio and Angelina Valentine because they both bring the heat...lol

Alright, this was a short list (didn't want to bore you too much) and maybe HW will send some follow up questions. HW will be back next month!

Jack Watson's Complete Guide To Creating

Black and White
Female
Glamour
Images From Nudes To Fashion

By Jack Watson

WorldMags.net

Award-winning photographer Jack Watson has crafted a unique book dedicated to female glamour images created in black and white to honor the famous Hollywood stills photographers of the 1920's and 30's. With the help of a large collection of stunning glamour models who have been featured globally in many print, web, and video media including Playboy Enterprises™, Watson shows you how he creates sensuous, seductive glamour black and white images out of virtually any color glamour photograph. Dispelling the myth that not all color images make good black and white images, this book illustrates how virtually any glamour photo to create the look of the Hollywood masters.

Jack Watson's Complete Guide to Creating Black and White Female Glamour Images includes a CD with every photo in the book. All of the black and white photos started out as color digital files. They have been provided in their original color form for your unrestricted non-commercial use. This book is for those who have some basic Photoshop skills and want to broaden their horizons and experiment with additional plug-ins and software such as Nik Color Efex Pro Complete, Nik Silver Efex Pro, Topaz Adjust, and Topaz BW Effects. It's also for anyone who just loves looking at beautiful black and white female glamour images.

While most of the images in the book are "sexy" in nature, a number of examples show how sexy is not always the naked truth, but quite the contrary. Clothed or nude, the female form is a thing of beauty. At the very least, this book will make you rethink what is truly glamorous. Creating black and white glamour photos will help you see with your brain and feel with your heart. Remember it's not what you see in a photograph that moves you; it's what you don't see. So, boot up your computer, open your favorite photo software, and put the CD in the drive, and create some magic.
